Died Nov 15, 1916 at Victoria, BC, George Vienna, aged 93, he came to Victoria 65 yrs ago. Survived by a daughter Mrs D K Chungranes, and son, Peter Vienna, who is associated in business of D K Chungranes. Probably no man in Victoria has passed a more romantic and varied life than Mr Vienna. N/o Lymi, I of Evia, Gre, b 1823. When not yet out of his teens he began the life of a soldier and his 1st serious experience of war was in Crimean campaign. Through the major portion of this conflict he served on a British supply ship in Black Sea, and many of his adventures at that time were fraught with thrilling and dangerous incidents. The impress of this early experience seems to have directed him into the army of the soldiers of fortune, for he later followed an old-time square-rigger around the world to seek adventure in the new and untried fields of the new world. For a time he sought the mtns of MEX for their golden treasure, and fought in one of the early Mex revolutions. He was made captive but finally escaped in good time to join in the great stampede into the gold diggings of CA in 1849, and later in the rush to the discovery on Fraser R, to which has been credited the marked impetus that was given the development of the trading post of Victoria. After the 1st lure of the search for a quick fortune among the sands of Cariboo had claimed his enthusiasm, he decided that it had become time for a more serious consideration of life. He returned to Victoria and entered the business life of the city with a small fish store on Johnson st, next door to Shotbolt's Drug store. After playing for many yrs with luck, he found in the less romantic channels of business the treasure he had been seeking. It was soon necessary to find a more suitable location for his prospering trade and this was had on the present site of Dixi Ross & Co, Government st store. He remained at that location until his retirement 21 yrs ago, to leave the carrying on of the business to his s-i-l and his son. He then lived for several yrs nr the waterfront N of the E&N bridge, until he was persuaded to make his home with family at James Bay. Ph/Nov 17, 7. Rev Panaretos Anagnostopoulous officiated. Died Jan 19, 1917 at Victoria, BC, Thomas Potter, aged 92. One of Victoria's quaintest characters, he was familiarly known among other old residents of Victoria. Thirteen yrs ago he had his own tombstone erected at Ross Bay cemetery with his name and an inscription carved thereon, leaving only place for the date of death a blank. Born Dec 21, 1824, n/o Donaby, Lincolnshire, Eng, educated there. Hearing of the fortunes being made in CA, he took passage on a sailing vessel from Eng and after a long voyage, which was marked with all the inconvenience and hardship which usually accompanied such journeys in the early days, he finally reached US. He trekked across to the Pacific Coast and reached CA goldfields in 1858, when they had reached their height of fame and people from all corners of the world had been attracted to them. He worked for some time in the mines of the South, and then, learning of the wealth of Cariboo fields, he was one of the 1st to leave CA for the new grounds.

For a # of yrs he remained in the Cariboo and, from all accounts, met with a fair share of success. Finally deciding to give up mining, he came to VI and purchased a farm for himself out in Saanich dist. There he worked until removing to town. He bought the old Lion Brewery in the Spring Ridge section and later converted it to a saloon. About 20 yrs ago it was one of the best known public houses in the neighbourhood, but when the Saloon Act came into force in 1911 it was condemned and since that time Mr Potter lived a retired life.

He married some 10 yrs ago at age 82, but his wife predeceased him some time ago.

One of Mr Potter's closest friends was late James

Stephenson, and when the latter died, some yrs ago, Mr Potter had a double vault built at the cemetery, his old colleague being buried in one section, while he himself will be interred in the latter. Poem/Mar 4, 1917 - In loving memory of Dora Edith Maggie Deans, who departed this life Mar 3, 1916. Poem inserted by her mother

When we see a precious flower

That we tended with such care,
Rudely taken from our bosom,
How our aching hearts despair
Round her little grave we linger

Till the setting sun is low,
Feeling all our hopes have perished

With the flower we cherished so.

Died Mar 24, 1917 at Victoria, BC, Abraham Whetstone, n/o Colne, Eng, aged 87. He lived here periodically for 60+ yrs. When the goldfields of CA 1st began to attract notice he set out on the long journey, the 1st lap of which was accomplished on a sailing vessel and the 2nd by the overland route across Panama. After staking a claim and operating it for some yrs, he again hit the trail, this time northward, and did not stop until he reached Cariboo. He came up in 1858. It was then that Victoria grew almost overnight from an obscure HBC fort and Indian village to a tented community of some 3,000 inhabitants. From the 1st he had been attracted by the many assets of Victoria as a residential spot and after he had labored a # of yrs in the Upper Country he returned to the Island to spend the rest of his yrs. He eventually established a fruit store on Johnson st, at the point where the Jubilee Hotel now stands. He retired 25 yrs ago. He was a widower and had no children. He is survived by a niece, Miss Whetstone, who kept house for him. Ph/Mar 27, 7 - . Pallbearers: W G Cameron, W Beattie, J E Painter, George Creed, W M Ross, Capt J W Gidley. Died Aug, 1917 at Seattle, WA, Mrs Adele H Beckingham, formerly of Victoria, aged 77. N/o Paris, Fra, 1840, came to US in 1856. Her parents, M/Mme La Charme, preceded her, arriving and settling in San Francisco in 1850. In early 1870s the family moved to BC, and for next 15 yrs spent time in Seattle/Victoria. In 1890 the family moved to Seattle. She married George B Beckingham in BC, he died 1900. Aug 19, 17 - ... As M La Charme I remember her in early 1860s. Her mother kept a greengrocer's shop on S side Johnson st, she and her husband coming here in early 1860s. The daughter, who was very accomplished, gave private lessons in Fr and singing, and took a leading part in the choir of St Andrew's church, on Humboldt st. I remember her husband, George, as a fine looking young fellow, an Englishman, who was, I think, a commercial traveller. I am surprised to see that she was born so early as 1840, as she appeared tome, and I saw her often, as a pretty, fresh looking girl, but I may be wrong. There is one thing sure, and that is she had a fine voice, and I can almost imagine I can hear her as she sung in the choir. On Christmas eve it was the custom of the young fellows to attend service there irrespective of denomination; it was the singing that attracted them and there was standing room only before service commenced. Edgar Fawcett.

Sep 11, 1917, 11 - phs/text - Died Sep 9, 1917 at Victoria, BC, Capt James D Warren, aged 80, on this coast for 50+ yrs. He was one of the oldest and best known navigators on the coast, he came of UE Loyalist stock, his gt-grandfather having gone from Boston to fight with Gen Wolfe at QC... He was 1st of the big company sealers, and organized the Boscowitz SS Co. In 1877 Capt Warren and Henry Saunders, who at that time ran a big grocery store on Johnson st, purchased Beaver, the was then used for many yrs as a tugboat for towing logs... Another well-known steamer in which Warren was interested and which had a rather romantic career, was Alpha. She was a former Cunarder, and it was while the vessel was owned by Pickford & Black and operated between Halifax and West Indies that it was bought, in 1897, and brought out to the Pacific in 1898 for the Klondike trade.

Shortly after the vessel's arrival here, the boat was acquired by Capt Sep 12, Capt Fred Warren's name omitted... Fred, w/mother, was on board sloop Thornton when his father fought the famous battle w/Hyдах's, during which 14 were killed and the rest put to rout... Aged 68, n/o Aberdeenshire, Sct, The most reliable early traditions of the family point to Fra as the original home seat. Generations in Sct go back to William Meston, born in Midmar, Aberdeen, 1688.... It is believed that William Meston, a priest, moved from Fra to Sct in 1625, thus transferring the family name and seat to Sct. Mr Meston's father was Archibald Meston, n/o Sct, who married Miss Ann Clark. Educated and apprenticed in Aberdeen, Mr Meston, in 1872, emigrated to Can. He arrived in Toronto, staying there 2 yrs when he came to Victoria, then to Moodyville, where he did the iron work for the 1st sawmill....

Died Oct, 1917 at Savona, BC,
Alexander Hardie, n/o Fife, Sct [1831], was weaver in Sct, but allurement of CA goldfields drew him in 1854, and he engaged in mining w/varying success around Oroville. He fell in w/Lew Campbell and John Wilson, and when news of Fraser Rv gold strike reached them they set out for the new fields in 1858. Hardie mined at Hill's Bar, below Yale, and worked his way upstream. In this way he reached Cariboo,
and settled down at Cameron town, soon afterwards, w/2
brothers and 5 partners, locating the Caledonia claim on Williams Ck, a claim that pd
abt $40,000 to each of the 8 partners. It was a case of 'easy come, easy go,' and the money slipped through his fingers like water. In 1863 he opened a hotel in Camerontown, moving the business to Barkerville in 1866. He continued there until the big fire in Sep, 1858, which swept away the whole town except for 3. Accompanied by his wife and child, the latter, a son surviving him. In Oct 1868, he left Cariboo for Victoria, and the following yr
he appeared at Savona, dead broke. Nothing daunted he tried a new venture, and located Indian Gardens, a ranch that still bears that name. His old partners were in that area.

V/November 15, 1917, 5 - Captain Rider Lancelot Haggard, of an Eastern Ontario Regiment, has been killed in action. He was son of Major Arthur Haggard, founder of the Veterans' Club, of London, which has a membership of 8,000, including many Canadians. He was nephew of Colonel Andrew Haggard, DSO, Victoria, and Baroness d'Anethan, Victoria. The late Captain Haggard was engaged in the banking business in Montreal and Quebec and originally served in the PPCLI. His commanding officer says of him: 'No more gallant fellow ever made the great sacrifice. He had the absolute devotion of his men and the personal friendship of all his officers. I have lost a most intimate and loyal friend. His only brother, Lieutenant Geoffrey Haggard, RN, has been a POW of the Turks for over two years. He was on the first submarine which entered the Sea of Marmora in 1915. The commander of the submarine was Lieutenant Stoker, a son of Lieutenant-Colonel Stoker, of Duncan, BC. He and all his officers and crew were taken prisoners by the Turks. Captain Lancelot Haggard, whose death is now reported, had previously been wounded in the war.

December 13, 5 - Military Notes - Captain Rider Lancelot Haggard, Eastern Ontario Regiment, killed on October 30, was the younger son of Major & Mrs EA Haggard, of Pelham Crescent, London, and nephew of Sir rider Haggard, novelist, also of Colonel Haggard and Baroness d'Anethan, of Victoria. Captain Haggard came to Canada in 1911 and was in the Bank of Toronto at Montreal, subsequently being transferred to the Home Bank of Canada at Quebec, and later again to Montreal. He enlisted as a private in PPCLI, First Contingent, and after serving with that unit in France was invalided home with frostbite and septic poisoning. He later secured his commission in the Canadian Forces, and was wounded. Captain Haggard served recently in the same company and under the command of Major Papineau, and it is believed that they were killed almost at the same time.

January 4, 1918, 5 - Rendered Aid to a Dying Officer. One of the most touching incidents of the war is related in connection with the death of Captain Rider Lancelot Haggard, son of Major Haggard. Haggard was killed in action at Passchendaele at a time when his regiment, PPCLI, suffered heavily. Following his death, his father received many letters testifying to his splendid qualities, and one from Private T Bell, PPCLI, who saw him die.

The latter wrote:

It was fortunate that your address was referred to in last week's Canada, as I have been anxious to send you Captain Haggard's handkerchief, which I took along with his other personal effects from him when he died. In the attack he must have got hit soon after the commencement. He motioned for me as I went past, and seeing his predicament I stayed with him and did my best under the circumstances. It was not of much avail, I am sorry to say, and he soon died.

'I am sure you will be pleased to hear that he died very bravely and when he knew it was all over he told me to leave him. This prompted me to sound the regimental call over him (I was regimental bugler), which seemed to brighten him up just before the last. After he died I placed his belongings in my overcoat pockets and joined in the attack again, but I was buried for the second time that morning, and sustained fractured ribs and an injured spine, which made it necessary to proceed to the dressing station. I'm sorry that I could not bring out his effects, because I was very weak indeed, but I searched and found where he laid, and dropped my overcoat over him.'

The conduct of Private Bell, formerly a bugler in the Durham Light Infantry, in standing by his wounded officer, rendering every aid possible, sounding the regimental call over him as he was about to die, and then returning when badly injured after being buried, conjures up a picture of comradeship on the battlefield that is fortunately common in this war. Private Bell is now convalescing at Woocote Park, Epsom, from his injuries. On November 15 a memorial service was held in Holy Trinity Church, Brompton, London SW, for the officers, noncommissioned officers and men of PPCLI who had fallen. In connection with Captain Haggard's death the following poem was written:

(In Memoriam Captain Rider Lancelot Haggard, PPCLI, killed in action at Passchendaele, October 30, 1917)

The gates of youth shall never close behind him,
Nor touch of time betray the length of days;
Swift-handed War hath
suddenly enshrined him,
And wrought his chaplet of memorial bays.

Life's joys he hailed with mirth and honest laughter, Nor shall he know the
grudgings of the years,
That snatch with jealous hold
on the hereafter,
And turn the draughts of joy to draughts of tears.

At peace he lies, his comrades
all around him;
A seemly cross to mark his resting place;
Young in his years when Death with Honor found him, Yet old with all the valor of his race.

throughout the yrs, and brought them safe to QC in to Toronto. They spent 5 yrs

He holds the medal for Fenian Raid campaign and for 5 yrs
was comrade of Maj Dupont,

At the time when the 2 friends
left for Canada the Crimean Canada then. Murton can still remember the popular songs which were the rage in those days... Murton was 86 last Sep, Coverdale is a little bit younger.

V/Died May 30, 1918 at Victoria, BC, Cpl Joseph August Joubin, aged 35, n/o

Fra, had seen service in the Fr forces in this war, being awarded a medal. His widow, 2 children res/here. Jun 1, 7 - there is something peculiarly pathetic in his death after a long and wearing illness. He fought at Verdun, when the Fr made such a gallant stand against the on-pressing Germans. Before he was discharged, 'medically unfit,' he was awarded the Croix de Guerre. Then he came back to Victoria. Some time since he doffed his uniform, but his heart and spirit were with the Allies to the end, his long illness was made the harder by the thought that he could do nothing more to help in driving the enemy from Fra. He leaves a family in destitute circumstances, in whom the citizens of Victoria will surely show their interest in honor of Fra. Full military funeral. June 25, 1918, 11 - Neil Paul Stuart, 16, killed instantly, and Matthew Allen severely scalded yesterday, on SS War Nootka, moored off Imperial Munitions Board assembling plant at Ogden Point. Stuart, a plater's helper, and Allen, a boilermaker's helper, were working with a gang of men in the shell surrounding the smokestack while steam was being generated for the 1st time below. One of the manholes in the boilers was insecurely clamped and steam rushed through into the space where they were working... the men became panic-stricken and searched for an escape. Stuart found a small hole which permitted him to get his head through to the open air and he remained there in dread of suffocation... Other workers ran to his assistance and made an attempt to release the imprisoned men below by ripping up the steel cover by means of a derrick. The work was done so quickly that Paul was unable to extricate his head from the small hole before he had been lifted bodily along with the heavy covering and dashed against the smokestack... V/Jun 29, 1918, 5 - Victoria lady recently returned from England describes how 6,000 soldiers' graves were decorated July 1... Ceremony began at 5:30 am. Squads of nurses were detailed to different sections of the big cemetery. Placing of wreaths and crosses occupied but a short time, then came the service, and every Canadian within the area for miles around who could possibly get away was there. Afterwards the nurses reassembled again in squads and went among the graves collecting the little flags which had been placed thereon, the names of the graves from which they were taken being noted and the patriotic souvenir being folded up and sent to the next-of-kin of the respective men. Massed bands took part in the commemoration rites, which had a double significance they have not yet come to bear on this side of the Atlantic.

Jun 29, 1918 - On account of inadequate transportation facilities, extensive mining operations on west coast may be forced to close down.

Wesley W Warren, consulting engineer of Tidewater Copper Co and Alaska-British Columbia Metals Co, went before the Council of Board of Trade yesterday and made the statement that unless it was possible to get a steamer to his company's plant at Sydney Inlet, in Clayoquot Sound, within the next few days operations would have to cease for the duration of the war.

The discussions, which was taken up by members of the Council, resulted in the appointment of a committee to investigate WC transportation problems as applying not only to the two specific companies represented by Mr Warren, but to all other corporations in that section that are suffering the same hardship.

Tidewater Copper Co, which is the largest institution of its kind on west coast, has expended $170,000 in getting underway, and about 80% of this money has been spent in Victoria. The co payroll runs to $5,000 when in full operation. The concern operates the only flotation plant in the district that has made a total extraction of products.

CPR, it is said, is at present unable to make any definite statement as to whether or not a suitable vessel will be available within the time specified. Warren says he has ore awaiting shipment today, and the committee will make an effort to learn what possibilities there are in getting immediate steam connection.

Athlete/Aug 17, 1918, 10 - photo David Alexander N Ogilvy, pioneer climbed Mt Baker 50 yrs ago... The expedition was led by Mr F M Coleman, Alpine Club, Eng. He had made 2 previous attempts, but they had both been failures, and this time, leaving Victoria Aug 3, 1868, accompanied by Dave Ogilvy, he set out in a canoe for Bellingham Bay. Long yrs of travelling through unknown country, untrailed and dense; gruelling journeys over mountain ranges for elusive gold; these things had made Dave a mountaineer unexcelled. At Bellingham Bay the party, loaded w/provisions, and after picking up 2 others, John Tennant, a settler, and Thomas Stratton, continued up the Lummi rv, accompanied by several Indians. After going as far as possible by canoe, the party hoisted the packs upon their backs and made their way through unbroken wilderness to the snowline of the mountain. There the Indians waited while the 2 Britishers and 2 Americans started at daylight and reached the summit. Old Glory was raised and 4 men sent across the snowy reaches the doxology 'Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow,' and naming the height Grant's Peak, they turned again for the snowline and home.

At the snowline that night they were met by the Indians, and old Dave Ogilvy says, "I never saw Indians act so well in all my life. If we had been killed they would have been accused of murdering us, so they were very glad to see us back.' After being warmed, and after a night's rest the party went their way. In their minds there must have been a great satisfaction, for they had accomplished much, without music and without applause. David Alexander Nelson Ogilvy is an old man, aged 82, but in his eyes can yet blaze the memory of past days when he paddled to AK in a canoe, or crossed the Cascades with gold-thirsty men, or went with his rifle to hunt the Greek who shot his brother at Bella Coola. In the dusk of an evening in his hotel room he told of things that were. Once a special constable in the local force, he had patrolled Governments st c 42 yrs ago with his old dark lantern and pistol. Smallpox was rampant at that time among the Indians, and a tannery was filled with coffins, ready made. When an Indian died he was taken to the tannery and fitted, then put upon a little 2-wheeled truck and taken to the reserve across the harbor, where he was put in a hole without ceremony or service.

Born at Cote des Anges, The Hill of Angels, nr Montreal, Dave Ogilvy went to NY and set sail for VI on the same steamer that brought Alexander Wilson, who died recently, to these shores. This was in 1859, and the trip was made by way of Panama Isthmus, over which Dave has travelled on 3 different occasions. His brother was in service of HBC and Dave's folks told him to go out to his brother and make his fortune as others had done. He came, his brother went to Ft Hope to establish a customs stn there.

A Greek smuggler and whisky seller shot and killed him at Bella Coola May 6, 1865 [6], not liking the interference with his business. A mountain peak was named after the brother, and a reward of $1,000 was offered for the apprehension of his murderer, who escaped to Hardy Bay. The Greek set out with some Indians in a canoe, and then got them to set him ashore so that he might get them whisky he claimed to have hidden in the bush. His object was to escape from the Indians and get across the Island where he might catch an outbound steamer and make his getaway from the country. The Indians landed behind him to get the whiskey, carrying their guns. When the Greek saw that he was followed he turned and fired at the pursuers, and one of their number replied, wounding him in the shoulder. When Dave Ogilvy went up N to join the hunt for the slayer of his brother he met the Indian who had shot the murderer, and the man spoke certain words in the lingo of his race which Dave understood, and also twisted his handkerchief suggestively. Strangulation had sent the smuggler to the Happy Hunting Grounds, and Dave says the bones lie at Pt Hardy today.

In 1862, accompanied by 5

white men and 4 Indians, Dave travelled to the place now called Pt Rupert in a canoe. They met the miners returning disappointed, and so they took a new route and went up the Naas Rv. Two summers' work netted $8 and so they quit, and later went to Omineca, where 'colors' were even more scarce. Returning to Victoria, Dave Ogilvy helped compile the 1st Victoria directory ever issued, and also assisted in tax collecting. James Drummond was Mayor in those days and the old bastions were in place with their guns pointed out across the old reserve, where 2,000 Indians were encamped. Those were lawless days, and the white men were ready for anything that might break...

Seeing a mate on the old Otter fall overboard between the steamer and an HBC wharf, Dave took off his coat and went after him, towing the man to the rudder and then 'yelled like blue blazes' until help came.

The lot on David st where Dave has his cabin is to be the property of the city on the death of his niece, and the land is to be used for some philanthropic purpose.

Carefully pulling open the lower drawer of his bureau, Mr Ogilvy displayed a neatly kept pile of papers and books. He took out old clippings that are in danger of going to pieces, all pertaining to his trip to Mt Baker, and information about himself and others who went with him.

Among the treasures of the lower drawer lay a square package, and this was taken out and opened. It showed a pencil drawing of the planting of the flag on Grant's Peak, executed by Coleman, who was very clever with a pencil... Ogilvy, last survivor of the ascent...[died Mar 29, 1924, aged 88. RBC plot P 090 E H] *

Aug 18, 1918, 6 - While taking the line of the steamer Princess Sophia [Aug 16], berthing at Empire Cannery wharf, Esquimalt, Johnny

Albany, a highly respected member of the Songhees tribe, slipped into the water and was drowned. Johnny was an employee of the cannery. After the 1st plunge beneath the surface of the water it seems that the body appeared at the surface but once again and assistance was not forthcoming in time for a rescue. After a time the body was recovered. Coroner F T Stanier held an inquiry yesterday into the circumstances of the accident, which obviated the necessity of an inquest. Johnny Albany was aged 32, and leaves a wife and 7 children. He was one of the most popular young men of the reserve, and had hosts of friends among the white people. He was a stepson of ex-Chief Michael Cooper, and a brother of Austin Albany, of the New England Market. The funeral will be held on Tues at 8:30am from the residence on Craigflower Rd, and 9am from the Roman Catholic church on Esquimalt Rd. Flowers left at the BC Funeral Co will be delivered. Interment will be made in the family plot, Ross Bay cemetery. N/o Victoria. Died Sep 1, 1918 at Metchosin, BC, Hans Helgesen, aged 87, n/o Asher Co, Norway. His father was a shipbuilder, and at an early age he went to sea. He left for N America in 1847, voyaging on Atlantic coast from NY to Buenos Ayres. In 1849 the lure of gold drew him to CA, and subsequently to Cariboo. Here he was signally successful, and later retired to San Francisco to enjoy the fruits of his fortune. Here he met Miss Lillian Colquhoun, and married her at Victoria in 1862. They settled in Sherwood Farm in 1877. The spirit of adventure was still strong, and after a few yrs on the farm, he was attracted in turn to NV gold fields, Cassiar diggings and to the Far N. From the latter he came back to the farm, only to shortly return to the deep sea, 1st to the cod fisheries off Qn Charlotte Is, later to sealing as part owner of schooner Juanita. This latter venture proved a misfortune which drove him back to his farm, and then he was elected as MLA of Esquimalt dist. In 1893 he pursued his quest for gold in British Guiana, acting as supt for an Eng mining syndicate. Stricken with fever in that climate he returned to Metchosin to regain his health, after which he went to Cariboo region to follow up his prospects of the 1860s. He again entered politics, representing Cariboo. He later entered federal service as fishery overseer for Skeena Rv, which he filled with credit for 9 yrs. In 1907 he paid a visit to Norway, after having been away for 59 yrs, spending 3 yrs there. Returning to BC, he took up residence with his 2 sons in Metchosin. Survived by 3 sons here, Henry C, Thomas F, Christian H, and 2 sisters in Norway. St Mary's Church, Metchosin, buried beside wife who predeceased him 13 yrs ago. Service attended by Premier Oliver, Hon John Hart, Charles McIntosh, MP. Pallbearers: F G Stothard, Charles McIntosh, MP, W Fisher, W Muir, G Field, Thomas Argyle.

Sep 11, 1918 - With his wife [Catherine] violently insane from the awful loneliness of WC, and 2 of his 4 children in a precarious state through lack of food, Lightkeeper [James Henry] Sadler, of Entrance I [later re-named Kains] lighthouse, was found at his post after he had exhausted himself in his efforts to keep his wife from committing suicide.

When Capt Oversen, of SS St Lawrence, arrived at Pt Alice he found distress signals flying at the Entrance I lighthouse, and it is reported that they were flying for 5 days. In spite of the circumstances Keeper Sadler had kept the light burning.

St Lawrence took Mrs Sadler and 2 of the children to Pt Alice, where they will be cared for. Mr Sadler is still tending the light, but he is said to be in an uncertain state of health. Gordon Halkett, Supt of Lights, will leave on Maquinna for the lighthouse to investigate the matter.

Lighthouse tender Leebro called there at end of Jul, when all was well, and supplies were sent up at that time by Maquinna and transferred from Pt Alice. The CPR boat passes the lighthouse every 10 days and should easily have picked up any distress signals that were flying.

Two of Sadler's 4 children were born on Entrance I since the father became keeper there. [read 'Keepers of the Light', pg 203-211]

Wrecking of halibut boat Eagle, of Seattle, Sep 11... ran on rocks at W end of Shelter I, outside Ucluelet Hbr. Fred Inborg, Capt and owner with 3 of the crew, rowed into Ucluelet for help. No lifeboat was there, so several fishing launches were secured and went to assist, but were unable to pull her off. In the meantime Banfield lifeboat had been notified by wire and Capt Murray immediately responded. However, by the time help arrived Eagle had settled down among the jagged rocks and after repeated attempts the lifeboat was forced to abandon her. The 5 men on Eagle were being cared for by the lightkeeper awaiting arrival of Pr Maquinna, which is expected tomorrow night... The day before Eagle went ashore, Kitgora, a seine boat of New England Fish Co, ran on a rock in Toquart Hbr, and filled with water. She was finally pulled off and floated by Tasso, belonging to another fishing co. It is said that both of these accidents could have been easily handled had the Ucluelet lifeboat been at her stn instead of being housed at Esquimalt.

WmHx/Med/Nov 9, 1918, 9 - Miss Beulah F Westwood, 30, n/o Nanaimo, BC, of George Jay school, succumbs to pneumonia Nov 8. When the call to aid in the fight against influenza was made, Miss Westwood was one of the 1st to respond and was promptly assigned to the care of a family of 4 residing in the Gorge district, all of whom were confined to bed. It was there that she contracted influenza, and being rundown from the strenuous work which she had performed, was unable to resist the pneumonia which followed.

She had been a member of George Jay staff since its opening in 1910, being in charge of Junior 4th division, and was highly regarded by both pupils and her fellow teachers.

Miss Westwood was greatly interested in the patriotic activities of the city, and when the call for berry pickers came in the summer was one of the city's contingent which went to Hatzic to aid in saving the crops. Her ambition since the outbreak of the war had been to go overseas as a nurse, but her duties as a teacher overruled her private desires. With the closing of the city schools and the call for volunteer nurses, she seized the opportunity offered, and gave to the work the same enthusiasm which had made her so successful in the course of her teaching career.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by a brother, Dr N Westwood, of Canadian Dental Corps, now overseas. Pallbearers: P H Wilson, P H Borrodaile, Major Wendell Burrell Shaw, H Charlesworth, P C Coates, C L Shaw. D/o Mr & Mrs C N Westwood. Q 086 W V

Marine/Nov 19, 1918, 17 -
Fishing boat Lief B caught fire 30 miles off Cape Beale on Nov 8 through the galley lamp overturning. The 5 men on board found they could not combat the flames, and so took to the dory in their underclothing with a cabbage

and some apples for provisions.
Shortly after the men had left the burning craft the 700 gals
of gasoline on board blew up, destroying the boat.

The freezing men were driven out off their course, and instead of landing at Barkley Sound
they beached their craft at Clayoquot Sound. The Tidewater Copper Co camp at Dewdney Mine supplied the seamen with clothes and food and they boarded Maquinna at Clayoquot. The men aboard were: Capt J Johnson, Albert Jacobson, Manfred Ottsen, J
Hobde and George Running [Ronning?], all of Seattle. Capt Johnson lost everything. The boat was bought with lifetime savings, being valued at $12,000, while new engines in her had cost him $4,000.

Nov 19, 1918, 17 - *Pr
Maquinna* put into port yesterday after a stormy trip down WC. She brought down 141 passengers, mostly Chinamen from the different salmon canneries and the whale meat cannery at Kyuquot. The boat was unable to stop and pick up the bodies of Renfrew
victims at Clo-oose owing to the heavy waves. This is the 3rd time in succession she has been unable to handle freight at that place owing to the weather.
Mails can usually be lifted.

V/Died Dec 1, 1918 at Victoria, BC, Brinkley Robinson. 'I fought for Britain when she was one of many nations; I did my little to strengthen her in my youth; I thank God that I have lived to see the day when she triumphs over all who would withstand her; and I die content to know that the peace of the world rests in the hands of my country and so is sure for all time.' Vet/Crimea, soldier of the Empire in the dark days of the Indian Mutiny, and gallant Briton to the last. Lived here many years, aged 84, for many yrs was employee of the city, but of late his greatest interest had been the life of the men training at Willows Camp, nr which he passed his declining yrs. All the men in training there knew 'Old Dad,' as they affectionately termed him, and his yarns of India and the ways of the soldier of the 1850s passed many hrs for the young men who came to talk with him or who met him around their quarters.

It was his insistence on taking part in the peace celebrations which indirectly brought on his death. Not in the best of health at the time, the sight of a company of youthful fighters marching to town to join in the celebration fired his ambition to have a part in the excitement, and when offered a precarious seat on a lorry burdened with an overload of decorated soldiers, Mr Robinson was not to be stayed. He climbed aboard and had what he later described as 'the very finest time of my life.' A cold which he then contracted was too much for the weakened frame of a once tremendously big man to resist, but he was happy to the last over the fact that he had had a part in the triumphal parade which marked his country's victory.

N/o Blyborough, Eng, enlisted in old 82nd Reg, nicknamed the 'Billygoats,' when but a youth. With that Reg he went to Crimea and had a part in the siege of Sebastopol. After the conclusion of peace with Russia his Reg was transferred to China, but when at Singapore the destination was changed and it was sent post haste to take part in the quelling of the Indian Mutiny. Cawnpore, Lucknow and the Ganges were all familiar to Robinson, and such names as Sir Colin Campbell and Gen Havelock had a personal meaning to him, which imbued with sparkling life all his tales of war in the days of long ago.

Ten yrs was the span of service which he gave to his Queen and country, earning several medals and decorations. Then he came to Canada, spending several years in the E, before arriving in Victoria 27 yrs ago.

Survived by a son, William, living at Vantworth, OH, and 2 daughters in Victoria, Mrs Sarah Elizabeth Armason, and Mrs Demers. Remains will be accorded full military honors, Maj-Gen Leckie having given permission for an escort and firing party in addition to the use of a gun carriage to convey the remains to Ross Bay cemetery. The British Campaigners will attend in a body. Gun carriage was followed by a large concourse and the casket was covered with many tokens of esteem friends of Crimean and Mutiny veterans sent with him to his last rest. At the grave the customary 3 volleys were fired over the remains and a bugler sounded the Last Post. Marine/Dec 8, 1918, 27 - Estevan lighthousekeeper reported that the light was kept revolving all night, but he said that it might stop at any time, not being dependable. The lighthouse was rocked by an earthquake Fri morning, the tower being cracked, some of the lens in the glass being broken and the mercury in the bath being spilt. The bath is used to float the heavy lens and make it revolve easily. The lightkeeper managed to pick up enough of the spilt material to float the lens. A supply of mercury has been procured in Victoria by Marine Dept and will be shipped up on Pr Maquinna. Lighthouse tender Leebro is now at Estevan landing semi-annual supplies and she will meet Maquinna and transfer the mercury to the lighthouse.

Wireless reports from Estevan Pnt stn yesterday tell of a recurrence of the earthquake. The operator states that he felt 10 distinct shocks and that considerable of the concrete work of the lighthouse was split. The shocks were fully as severe as on the previous night. Jan 15, 1919, 13 - To Cape Beale lighthouse there was taken a new lightkeeper, and with him went a cow. It so happened that a short distance from the light there was a whistling buoy floating on the water. This aid to navigation is such that air is compressed by the action of the waves and a whistle is thus actuated. The noise of the ingoing air and then the whistle is like a huge and gruesome groan, the note of whistle being like that of a foghorn.

The first night they landed the cow was lonely. Then the buoy sent out its message of gloomy foreboding and the animal heard it as a friend speaking to her in the darkness. It answered with its best voice.

Back and forth across the water all that night and the next went the friendly interchanges of the buoy and the cow, and the lightkeeper lay awake and listened.

He was with local garrison 2 months, transferring in 1916 to 10th Brig, Ammunition Col, CEF, which left here on Feb 18, 1916, proceeding to England and France. After training in England he was transferred to 38th Batt, CFA. This battery left for France July 13, 1916. Immediately they were ordered to the front and occupied a gun position in Ypres Salient. Here they came under German shellfire for 1st time. After a short term at Ypres, they were moved to Somme front, where they saw some sharp fighting during the 3 months they were on this part of the line. After occupying various parts of the line, they saw fierce fighting at the taking of Vimy Ridge. After Vimy they fought at Hill 70, where the fighting was also very severe, the enemy making 10 counter-attacks during the 1st day... The next engagement was at Passchendaele, where the unit suffered heavily. While serving there he was gassed, losing his speech and sight for a time. After undergoing treatment in France he was returned to England and finally sent home to Canada.

He was one of many BC men who were detained at Kingston for several months, being transferred to Kamloops on Sept 2, 1918, and then home on Dec 24. He gave promise of recovery, but relapsed. He was beloved by all who came in contact with him, and his noble sacrifice will live in the memory of those who knew him. Remains borne to cemetery on a gun carriage, casket draped with Union Jack. The firing party preceded the casket followed by a large number of relatives and friends. Three volleys were fired over the grave, the bugler sounded Last Post. V/Med/Mar 14, 1919, 4 - 'If I was an artist gifted with Divine inspiration I would paint a picture of the Great War as I have seen it. I would show the dead and the dying and the wounded - the broken trench, the ravished home. I would show the shot-drenched and battle-smashed countryside - a people shell-shocked and war-weary. I would depict the spawn of a greed-mad nation playing the game amidst wooden crosses, the monuments of men and women who died that a world might be free and know lasting peace.

In a word, I would paint the whole damned, warped tangle - the offspring of a civilization crucified on the altar of human selfishness. And I would paint in the foreground a British Red Cross Sister as I have seen her - fearless, calm and skillful - the embodiment of the world's greatest gift to her soldiers - The Red Cross, the manifestation of God's perfect love. VL/Died April 4, 1919 at Wimereaux, France, Nursing Sister Jessie Nelson King, Medical Service, aged 27, n/o Moodyville, BC, eldest d/o late Alfred Nelson Codrington King, granddaughter of late Capt J N King, RN.

Apr 13, 7 - letters from France and England received during the past week by her mother and sister show that through her fatal illness, Nurse King received every attention, and that she had the comfort of knowing that dear friends were near. Her own last letter, written February 22, describes her visit to the grave of her brother, Lieut Nelson King, and tells her sister that she will leave in a few days for England, and hopes soon to be home. Before the comforting, hopeful letter reached Victoria the news of her illness had saddened the hearts of her many relatives and friends.

Before leaving France a party of nurses planned a visit to the battlefields near which they had laboured. She was one of those who took what must have been a hard and exhausting journey, and on her return to the hospital at the beginning of March was stricken with meningitis. She, as well as nurses and doctors, fought hard during the ensuing five weeks for a life that had been very useful, but on April 4 the brave and devoted nurse passed away.

She came to Victoria aged 8, educated at South Park and Girls' Central schools and studied in Montreal with her brother, afterwards Rhodes Scholar and Lieut Nelson King.

After her return to Victoria she entered the Jubilee Hospital, and on December 6, 1916, joined the service of her country as nurse. Her 1st work was at Work Point, leaving for overseas May, 1917. The transport was attacked by a submarine but made port with all passengers safe. After serving some months in England Nursing sister King was sent to France in November, joining No 1

Canadian Hospital and suffering in the air raid of 1918 in which Nurse Wake, of Victoria, and many others were killed.

Not only by her sister nurses here overseas, but by all who knew her, Jessie King was loved and her untimely death is mourned.

Survivors of the family, 2 of whose members sleep in France and Belgium, are mother, Mrs C A King, brother Cecil N and sister Sybil, teacher at Boys' School. Photo, April 27, 5.

AV/Aug 12, 1919, 7 - Lt
 Emerson Smith, returned
 POW, s/o Mr/Mrs Lincoln Smith, Victoria. N/o here he left w/107th E Kootenay Bn,
 in 1917 transferred to RAF.
 He became a scout pilot and served for some time on a home defence squadron. Then sent to Fra to join 45th Squadron, then Sopwith 2-seaters, and secured the 1st of his bag on this famous, or infamous old machine... When 45 Squadron were given Sopwith Camels he continued to bring down machines, accounting for 7 in all, according to official reports. He was twice WIA, once slightly and the last time severely in the arm and through the lungs. On the latter occasion he was shot down by Baron Richtofen and his Circus while on a defensive patrol, some 10 miles over the enemy's country. Lt Smith saw the inside of many German POW camps and hospitals, and though his letters to his parents were invariably cheerful, the reason has now come to light. It appears that all mail was very strictly censored... In reality, though an officer and pilot, he was accorded the usual shabby treatment meted out to all in their power. It is curious to note that of all the Victorians in the flying service, the majority were scout-pilots, and have seen considerable service on the fronts from N Belg to the Far East.

Marine/Aug 17, 1919, 27 - Schooner Annie sold after seizure for debt. One of the best known sailing craft on Island coast. Built 30 yrs ago at New Westminster by Harry Maloney, she set new records for WC sailing, according to old salts who knew her. Annie was owned by Charlie Spring, who operated 2 stores on WC and used the boat to carry up supplies.

‘The build of her is very peculiar,’ stated Walter Walker. ‘She tumbles home just like a big ship.’ Annie is 36' over all, and has 10' beam. She proved a well-built boat, surviving storms that put large craft on their beam ends.

Annie was sealing for at least one season, and for a # of yrs was laid up on WC. Then they cut 20' of topsail down, chopped off the bowsprit several ft and reduced her canvas spread a great deal. An engine was installed. Her later days, after Spring sold her, are hidden in obscurity. It is not known who changed her to an auxiliary or what she did in the intervening yrs, but she spent her 30 yrs on WC apparently. Sold to Frank Simon, Annie was later seized for debt, and lay several yrs at Clayoquot without a buyer. Then Capt Kohrt came down and decided that Annie would do for him and brought her to Victoria...

Marine/Sep 28, 1919, 31 - photo A private Vancouver enterprise was busy up WCVI this summer endeavoring to cut up for junk the hull of Carlmapu, the sailing vessel wrecked above Barkley Snd some yrs ago. The Vancouver tug Daring was used. The wrecking party made the mistake of cutting the steel plates of the hull into 15T pieces while the derrick scow used would handle only 5 or 6T. The result was that the plates had to be re-cut and the work was abandoned, presumably owing to the rough weather setting in. A scow load of steel was obtained but it is not known what was done with it. The wreckers were busy on Carlmapu practically the whole of the summer. Some Vancouver people succeeded in salvaging an anchor from the full-rigged ship Pass of Melfort this summer. This vessel was wrecked many yrs ago at Ucluelet and was broken up by the waves. Divers have also been down on the wreck of Valencia, which went down on the rocks in 1906, and in which many lives were lost. It is understood that the wreck was inspected to find out what chance there was of getting out the engines.

V/Nov 4, 1919, 17 - 30 motor parties from Victoria helped very considerably to compose the 200 guests who attended the dance held at Sooke Harbour Hotel on Saturday night. The function was arranged in connection with the reopening of the hotel under the management of Major George Nicholson and Mr K Willis, and is the 1st of a series to be held throughout the coming winter.

Dancing was held in the spacious lounge and dining room, which were artistically decorated with hundreds of Japanese lanterns and festoons, their many colours mingling prettily in the brilliant lighting scheme.

A delicious supper was served in the large drawing room upstairs, this apartment being tastefully arranged with chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. The 5-piece orchestra was a feature of the dance.

The many Victorians present were unanimous in expressing their surprise and unbounded delight with the affair, the hotel and its setting alike being generally conceded as constituting one of the beauty spots of the Island.

Mr/Mrs Harry J Scott, who succumbed as the ultimate result of injuries received on active service at the time when he performed the act of gallantry which earned him his latest decoration. Before the war Blayne Scott was one of Victoria's most prominent and most distinguished athletes, his chief sport activities being rowing and boxing, and he was one of the bright stars of JBAA.

When war broke out Scott lost no time in joining up, and went overseas as a Pte, winning a commission for gallantry on the field. He won the Military Cross by delivering important messages
after having to pass through 3 dense barrages of fire. This decoration was won while serving with 2nd Div Trench Mortar Corps.

In the 3rd yr of war Lt Scott transferred from artillery to RFC, and served in Fra as an observer. He won DFC by climbing out onto the structure of the machine and plugging a bullet hole through which petrol was leaking. By this action his pilot was able to land behind the British lines, but the machine crashed and

Scott was injured seriously in the crash. After convalescing he soon returned to the front, and was unfortunate in another crash.

He returned from overseas Feb, 1918, and went N last summer w/survey party, but the strain was too great for him, and he had to return to Victoria. For the last 6 wks he has been confined to his bed, but was unable to recuperate. Military funeral. Mason funeral notice.

‘Well done, Blayney.’

A beautiful wreath, bearing these eloquent words, the last tribute and farewell to Lt Blayney E Scott, MC, DFC, from his fellow-airman, dropped yesterday from an aeroplane that glided low over the gun carriage bearing the body to its final resting place. Throughout the service the aeroplane circled overhead, sometimes low and sometimes high. When the cortege commenced its sad journey it was accompanied by the machine, piloted by Lt Brown, MC and with Lt Gordon Campbell as passenger. At a height of 50' above the gun carriage bearing the casket of the air hero Lt Campbell released the wreath which, despite the wind blowing, fell within a few ft of its mark. It lay upon the gun carriage for the remainder of the journey. Shortly before the funeral procession reached Ross Bay cemetery the plane turned back to the aerodrome.

The funeral was attended by a large # of Lt Scott's friends, including comrades from 2nd CMR, and RAF, a party from Pacific Club and another from

J Unit, IODE. The floral tributes were magnificent. Pallbearers were brother Masons, including: Lindley Crease, F Moore, R Grubb, R J Walley, F E Winslow, J W Hudson. Honorary pallbearers: Maj Bapty, Lts John Greig, William S Day, James Grey, Crow, Ernest Burden. P 091 W S. CWGC

V/Nov 13, 1919, 7 - Is it humanly possible for anyone under present conditions to live in Victoria on $7.50/mo? Yet evidence given before Magistrate Jay yesterday indicates that not only one, but two persons, have been trying to keep body and soul together on this beggarly pittance. The story is one which must strike pity to the heart of all who hear it: but it should also cause a feeling of shame in all those who are responsible and who have allowed such a state of affairs to exist... One of the unfortunate sufferers is a returned soldier who sustained serious injuries which have so disabled him that he is practically unable to do work of any kind.

The matter has been brought to public attention because John Thornburg was arraigned on the charge of having stolen a bicycle. His R leg is useless, he suffers still from a chest wound, his health has been seriously affected by his service overseas... His father, an old man of 79 is dependent on the son. N/o VI, Thornburg was a baker before he joined the army. He served for 17 mos in Fra w/28th Bn before he was seriously WIA by a shell which smashed the R thigh bones, broke some ribs, and badly cut his head. The last mentioned resulted in his mind being affected.

He spent many mos in hospital, being discharged Dec 1918, and took a course of training under the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. At 1st he tried stationery engineering, which was too heavy for him. Next he tried a vulcanizing course, but this too he had to give up because he could not stand for long hrs...

Music/Died Nov 18, 1919 at Victoria, BC, William Henry
Huxtable, aged 85, n/o Newport, Devonshire, Eng. He was one of the braves who adventured to the wilds of N Pacific at the beck of the gold lure of 1860s, but Victoria so appealed to him on his arrival here in 1862 that he gave up his original plans, chose the then scattered settlement as his home, and remained until the hour of his passing one of Victoria's great admirers and supporters.

In 1872 the janitorship of the old log schoolhouse which then occupied the site of the present Central school, was entrusted to him, and this position he retained until 1916, when he accepted the retiring pension which an appreciative School Board tendered him.

He became a volunteer fire brigade member in 1868, and joined IOOF in 1867, his other particular interest and pleasure.

He was presented w/50 yr
veteran's jewel by mem/o VI
Encampment No 7.

Another memento which he prized highly was his long service medal for 20 yrs of duty w/old volunteer militia organization, the BC Rifles, of which he had been one of the most enthusiastic members. A cornetist of considerable skill
he was one of the musicians who made up the 1st brass band organized in BC.

Shortly after his arrival here he met and wedded Miss Anne J Turner, of Manchester, Eng, who died in 1910. He was an ardent churchman, and in great demand as a singer in various congregations, having been for many yrs a mem/o Christ Church, St John's and other choirs.

For some 2 yrs past he has been an invalid, but he retained an acute interest in municipal affairs. Survived by 3 sons: Robert, James and Alfred, and a daughter Agnes,
all of Victoria. IOOF

Work/V/Killed Nov 18, 1919 nr Jordan Rv, John Moran, MM, a returned soldier. Falling from the top of a bluff on which he and 2 other workmen were engaged under the direction of D Racey, Engr, in survey work nr VI Power Co's plant, his body rolled into Jordan Rv and was swept along by the swift current into Jordan Rv canyon. With A King, foreman, Jack Hanna and Moran, Racey has been at work for some time in the vicinity of the plant. At the time of the fatality the men were stretched out in line working above the cliff along the river's edge. Suddenly Moran was seen rolling down the bluff, a distance of 40', into the river. It is supposed he slipped on the wet ground and, losing his balance, was precipitated into the river. On account of the recent heavy rains the river is swollen and the current is very fast. The last seen of Moran's body was as it disappeared into the canyon through which the waters pour in tremendous volume and speed. The other workmen rushed to the river's edge from the bluff but they were too late to render any assistance. A search party was organized but up to a late hr last night no trace of the body could be seen.

Nov 20, 6 - No trace of the body...; Nov 25, 5 - until water subsides there is little likelihood of recovery of body. He saw extensive service in Fra, having been at the front for nrly 4 yrs, winning the Military Medal. His mother is residing at Winnipeg, MB. Aged 37, no relatives here. Dec 4, 6 - body recovered and Cst Bevan, accompanied by an undertaker, went there to bring remains to the city. Moran's mother has been notified. U 044 W 48. CWGC

V/Dec 9, 1919, 15 - youngest 'Originals' join Comrades' Assn... James McVie, Leonard Parkinson, Roy Nicholas... The 1st 2 mentioned boys enlisted as buglers aged 13 with 88th Victoria Fusiliers in 1913. When the Canadians were called upon during Aug 1914, these young heroes did not hesitate to secure their parents' consent, and immediately joined the draft which helped to form the original 7th Battalion, famous 1st BC Regt, then proceeded to Valcartier, then to Salisbury Plains for rigid training, tramping through the mud and slush along w/full-grown and able-bodied men.

The last mentioned boy, Roy Nicholas, was taken on strength of the Bn at Salisbury [Eng] aged 14. It appears that Roy had run away from home in Eng to join the Cdns; he secured a job as attendant to the Bn's mascot (the goat).

These young soldiers were not held in Eng as under military age, but proceeded direct to the theatre of war with original 7th Battalion. These boys went into the trenches with their Bn and were engaged in the thickest of the fighting in 2nd battle of Ypres. After the battle of St Eloi the bugle was no longer required in action, the boys then being placed into Bn transport for duty. A story is told of how they disposed of Roy's charge (the goat). In finding themselves without funds, the 3 boys and the goat proceeded to a village, where they sold the goat to an old Belgian, henceforth having a cake and wine banquet of their own. As soon as our young veterans were able to handle a rifle and machine gun they again went into the trenches and went through the ordeal until the famous 7th Bn was no longer required as a part of the army of occupation in Germany.

These 3 veterans deserve all possible encouragement in their fight for the future. In fact, we are proud of them as citizens of BC and Victoria. They do not boast about their adventures in the Great War, but they often mourn the loss of their fallen comrades, and are proud of the Mons medals which they have just received.

V/Died Feb 3, 1920 at Victoria,

BC, Charles Edwin Salmon.
Going into the basement of her father's house yesterday afternoon, Salmon's little daughter found him lying unconscious on the floor, with blood flowing from his throat.
A razor was beside him, with which it was too evident that he had been successful in inflicting the wound. Dr Lennox was immediately summoned, but too late to render any aid, the unfortunate man being dead by the time
the Dr arrived. The wife says that he had not been himself for several days past. He had gone about muttering to himself, and seemed to be in fear of someone 'getting' him.
He had gone to the basement to split some wood. It was his length of absence and silence that alarmed his daughter and took her in search of him. She found him as stated.

Feb 5, 1920 - verdict of suicide was returned at inquest on body of Charles Edwin R Salmon. Evidence of wife of deceased was that he was a returned soldier, had served for nearly 3 yrs. Only last month he commenced his duties as verger of Christ Church Cathedral. He had suffered from concussion of the brain some yrs ago.
Recently he had been strange in manner and obviously under the influence of mental excitement. Aged 52, s/o

son here, 4 brothers, 2 sisters

V/Poem/In ever loving and happy memory of my dear and only son, J Hales Sweet, BA, Maj, 72nd Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, KIA at Vimy Ridge, Easter Mon, Apr 9, 1917.

There's a sacred chain of friendship
Reaching now across the sea.
And the mighty links that form

it
Will hold it through eternity.
For we welded it together
When we, sobbing, said a prayer
Said a prayer and left our loved one Sweetly sleeping 'over there.'

Poem/V/To the loving memory of Sgt John Knox, KIA, Apr 9, 1917. Parents and loving brother Arthur.

Upon your resting place the poppies grow and fade,
Oh, boy of ours, your worldly work well done;

Buried in the shroud your tartan kilt had made,
Your contribution to a peace well won.

That sacrifice from us on earth may sever,
But fond thoughts of you no power will ever cease

Our loving memories, lingering on together
Pray God to grant you that everlasting peace.

V/Died suddenly Apr 30, 1920 at Victoria, BC, James Dineen, a vet/o Great War, and widely known along this coast, where he had lived for some yrs. Mr R A McIntyre, secretary of Comrades of Great War, of which deceased had been a member, called at the Johnson st cabin where Dineen was living, to ascertain how he was. He found Dineen lying dead on the floor.

On Thurs McIntyre visited Dineen, and, seeing he was ill, summoned Dr Briggs, who suggested that Dineen should go to the hospital. Dineen refused to do so, declaring that he had spent enough time in hospitals overseas following his being WIA at Vimy Ridge. Yesterday he apparently suffered a turn for the worse and had got out of bed, but collapsed. He had been dead but a short time when McIntyre called. Aged 50, n/o Limerick, Ire, single. He had resided on this Coast and had been a wanderer, having participated in the Klondike gold rush, been a sailor and sealer, and worked in the lumber camps and mines. But he always returned to Victoria. He enlisted w/67th Bn and saw lengthy service overseas, being severely WIA at Vimy. So far as known he had no relatives in Canada, his family res/Ire. He was a great lover of dogs and was always accompanied by a huge Great Dane. When the Pr of Wales was here, Dineen insisted upon introducing his dog to HRH, bringing the animal with him into the Legislative Chamber at the public reception held by HRH. To be buried w/full military honors. Cortege will move from Cathedral to Comrades of Great War clubrooms, then to Ross Bay cemetery, led by Comrades' Band and a firing party. A gun carriage conveyed the casket, a firing party attended, and Last Post was sounded. Reps/o Comrades of Great War, ANV, and other military organizations were present. The pipe band attended the funeral. U 038 W 48. CWGC

Work/V/Killed Jul 5, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Harold, 22, s/o Mr & Mrs Frederick Quarmby, Esquimalt. Born at Manchester, Eng, resident here for 10 years. Leaves parents, 2 brothers, Lawrence, Victoria, and Clifford, Manchester. Deceased left Victoria with 67th Western Scots, and after seeing extensive service in France, was WIA at Lens, and invalided home in 1917.

Giving way under the strain of lifting timbers from the water to the mill, the huge derrick at Cholberg Shipyard, said to be the largest of its kind on the Island, toppled over yesterday, and the stiff leg which braced it fell upon the top of the engine house, crushing it down on the fireman, Harold Quarmby, who died last night from injuries received.

Although the engineer was standing close Quarmby at the time, he was not touched. The injured man was rushed to St Joseph's hospital. Reports state that his lungs were pierced by broken ribs and he had an arm and leg broken. He was a returned man, and he was known to have been badly shell-shocked.

The derrick has a boom over 125' in length. The equipment was purchased from Foundation Co by Cholberg Yard and set up so that it might lift timber from the railway cars into the water, and also from the water to the mill. The engine house was right under the stiff leg which stretched from the mast of the derrick to the railway grading close by. The derrick had been strengthened Sunday. The yard nurse attended the injured man until Dr Bechtel arrived, who removed him to hosp in the ambulance.

Jul 8 - Accidental death was verdict brought in by coroner's jury.. Jury comprised of Ernest Robbins, Robert Westbrook, William Geddes, George Benner, Joseph P Howell, Alex Farquhar.

Representatives from the Great War Veterans Assn, comrades of the Great War Assn, and Major P Riddell, president, and S Petch, representing the Cholberg Assn. Pallbearers: J Day, S P O'Hara, L R Wilson, employees of Cholberg's, and W James, G Whitmore, J Glover, friends of deceased. Large number of beautiful floral offerings testified to the high esteem in which deceased young man was held. Casket was covered with Union Jack and was proceeded to the cemetery by a firing party, 3 volleys being fired over the grave, and Last Post sounded. Standing in silence for a short period before commencing the business of the meeting, member of Cholberg Shipyard Workers' Assn paid tribute to late Harold Quarmby. Q 059 W V. CWGC

WmHx/Died Jul 28, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Fanny, wife of William T Bickford, aged 69. N/o Stowell, Somerset, Eng, and came when a young woman to BC, arriving here in 1870s after an adventurous journey. The whole trip took 5 wks, of which 12 long days and nights were spent in the journey across US by Union Pacific RR to San Francisco, and the many discomforts of the journey included a 'hold-up' in Omaha. They finally arrived here in the ill-fated Pacific, which later foundered off Cape Flattery.

For many yrs Mrs Bickford conducted a dry goods business on Yates st, and her store was well known to all old timers of the city and district.

The lure of the land then tempted Mr/Mrs Bickford to Colwood, and there they remained.

The WI at Metchosin was the 1st founded on VI, and Colwood was the 2nd. Its present membership is 22, and it owns a piano and a library of 400 books. Mrs Bickford was elected pres at the organization meeting and remained in office until her retirement 1 yrs ago owing to ill health.

Aug 19, 1920 - Within 2 blocks of luxurious Empress Hotel and the Provincial stately pile, has been for several days a little Indian village. On Belleville street, just beyond the CPR wharf, in a dozen or more primitive, squatty tents, the tent cloth pieced out by old quilts and blankets, about 75 Indian folks of all ages, have been living the simple life since last Saturday.

They are of Nootka, Hesquoit and Ahousat tribes, from the Ahousat district, 150 miles up the west coast, whither Maquinna takes them tomorrow, and have been fishing for the canneries at Rivers Inlet. Good fishing, too, the young men report, and good pay. Fifty-five cents a piece for sockeye runs into a lot of money in 6 weeks when the nets are pulling heavy. Weaving baskets at the tent door, the women conduct a bargain counter, which a few keen-scented buyers have found.

V/Died Aug 24, 1920 at Work Point Barracks, Victoria, BC, William Day, s/o Mr/Mrs Edward Archer [nee Lyon]. Aged 56 [May 16, 1867], n/o Eng, married. Was soldier in Imperial Army for 28 yrs. British Campaigners' Assn have lost one of their 1st members. Archer had a long record for military service to his credit. He 1st joined the Imperial Army Service Corps at Ipswich in 1886. He received his discharge at Aldershot in 1907, after 21 yrs' service, and with the following medals: Sudan (Khedive's); Sudan (Queen's), 1898; S Africa (King's) 1901-02; S Africa (Queen's) Relief of Ladysmith; Cape Colony and Transvaal. Then in the same yr, when he came to Victoria, he joined No 5 Co, RCGA. This was 8 mos after he received his discharge from the Imperial Army in Eng, and for 3 yrs he continued in service here.

But this was not to be the end of his military career. As soon as the war broke out he tried to get back into the army, and actually paid his own fare to Eng in order to join RASC again. He was enlisted at Aldershot Jul 30, 1915, and for 18 mos continued in the same force before transferring to Royal Marine Labor corps. Here he continued to give good service for more than 2 yrs, or until demobilized. His actual service in Fra extended from Aug, 1915 to Feb 10, 1919.

Close on age 60 when war broke out in 1915 he might well have found legitimate excuse for not going overseas. He was well known in British Campaigners' Assn, having been one of the charter members. His record was one of which the organization was justly proud, as, although his official history as a soldier dated back to 1898, his actual soldiering commenced in 1883 as a member of the Rifle Brigade.

Archer was at Battle of Atbar Apr 8, 1898, when Gen Kitchener defeated the Khalifa's force; he was also at the fall of Khartoum. At the commencement of the Boer war he went to S Africa, and was w/Gen Gatacre at Stormberg and Moltina, Cape Colony. Subsequently he was w/Gen Buller's forces at the relief of Ladysmith, and later joined Lord Strathcona's Horse. Six mos after the declaration of peace he returned to Eng and secured his discharge.

Much sympathy is extended to his wife and 13 yr old son. The former has been caterer for some yrs at the Sgt's mess at work Pnt Barracks.

There was a very large attendance, including an escort from Work Point Barracks, also a delegation from the British Campaigners. A firing party from Work Point was in attendance and fired 3 volleys over the open grave, and Trumpeter Brain sounded Last Post. Six honorary pallbearers represented the British Campaigners: W J Edwards, G Day, J Mee, R Cooney, W McLennan, J G Wilks. Active bearers, all from Work Pnt Garrison were: Sgt H R Whewell, Staff-Sgt T H Buxton, Co-Sgt-Maj T Marlay, QMS J T Eastic, QSMAT Farley, Co QMST Gray. CWGC. W 011 E 43

Died Sep 1, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Dr John Sebastian Helmcken, MRCS. N/o London, Eng, born Jun 5, 1824... Dr Graves, of Trinity Square, a prominent physician of the time, after the death of Helmcken's father, gave the lad a position in his surgery, intending to train him for a druggist. Before the expiration of his 4 years' apprenticeship he entered Guy's Hospital as a student, and eventually, after 4 years' connection with that hospital, secured a diploma, and a licence from the Apothecaries' Society.

His 1st trip to Canada was not to Victoria, but to York Factory... He was detailed to enter Royal Navy, but was dissuaded by Mr Barclay. Later he received appointment of surgeon on passenger ship Malacca, bound for Bombay. For 1 ½ years they sailed the Indian Seas, an interesting experience for one who was to live to see some of the ports which were then in their commercial infancy grow to vast importance.

Returning home, he met Mr Barclay, secretary of HBC, who gave him an appointment as clerk and colonial surgeon. In process of time he was promoted to a chief-tradership in the service.

With 80 pioneer emigrants, mostly HBC servants, he started for Fort Camosun (see letter to editor by J R Anderson, Sep 4, 14] on Norman Morison. Early on this voyage he was successful in quelling an epidemic of smallpox, assisted by Capt Wishart. Only 2 deaths resulted from that outbreak.

Norman Morison arrived at Esquimalt in Mar, 1850, but owing to the recent smallpox, the vessel was quarantined for 3 weeks... Mrs Helmcken died many years ago, and of the 7 children, but 2 daughters survive: Amelia, Mrs James McTavish; and Edith Louisa, Mrs Higgins... Photo, Sep 2, 1/7. Funeral Sep 4, remains forwarded to Vancouver for cremation. No flowers to be sent. Many old-time residents were among the mourners, while a large delegation of nurses from St Joseph's hospital attended in a body, acting a guard of honour at the church door. The cortege left deceased's residence... After the ceremony the cortege wended its way to CPR docks, escorted by the medical fraternity.. Honourary

But let no cloud of lamentation be

Where, on his grave a wooden cross now stands,

Placed to his memory by his comrades' hands;

We keep the vision of his chivalry.”

Marine/Died Sep 9, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Frank Woodman Adams, in ship chandlery business for 45 yrs. Aged 63, was actively engaged as mgr of E B Marvin & co. He came here w/his parents in 1858 from Saint John, NB via Panama, and lived for many yrs in the family home at crnr Douglas/View sts, on the site now occupied by Vernon Bk. He was employed for several yrs w/W & J Wilson, later he severed his ties with that firm to enter the employ of late E B Marvin in 1875. He later entered into partnership with Marvin and late Capt Cox, under firm name of E B Marvin & Co. With his partners, Adams actively engaged for many yrs in sealing industry with marked success, prior to formation of Victoria Sealing Co. He thus gained a very extensive knowledge of that industry, and his expert testimony was of considerable value in placing the claims of Victoria Sealing Co before the Royal Comm and Dominion govt on the occasion of the 1914 inquiry into sealing claims. To further prosecute the company's claim, Adams went to Ottawa and interviewed the Cabinet in 1917.

News/Died Sep 10, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Montalt John Mead Bellisis, res/here for many yrs. Aged 72, he had lead a varied and interesting life, numbering many of the world's famous figures among his intimate friends.

At the time of S African War deceased held the responsible position of head of Reuter's News Agency in S Africa, and was on intimate terms of acquaintance w/late Cecil Rhodes and Dr Jamieson. It is said of deceased that in many matters in connection with the conflict in Transvaal he did not see eye to eye w/authorities and that attempts were made by the diamond interest to have him doctor the news in order to manufacture public opinion favorable to the war in Eng. Bellisis, who was the soul of honor, on discovering this gave up his position and returned to Eng, where he began a campaign of enlightenment among the British as to the causes and effects of the Boer War. In this manner he came into close touch w/Hon Joseph Chamberlain, John Burnes and many other leading celebrities of the day. It was on the information supplied by him that the investigation into Boer War was chiefly based. It will be remembered that disclosures regarding this conflict were largely instrumental in sweeping the country for Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman in 1906, whose aide-de-camp at that time Bellisis was.

Shortly afterwards Bellisis came to Canada, and eventually to Victoria, where he has resided for 15 yrs. He had latterly been employed in various capacities by BC govt, as secretary to commissions and work of that nature. He was a splendid writer, fluent, and commanding an extensive vocabulary, with something of the Gladstonian touch about his style, and had always made his living by his literary labors. He was for a time connected w/Colonist editorial staff.

Deceased was a very lovable old gentleman, a man of the greatest integrity and the centre of a host of friends. He was of very bright character, both mentally and physically fit. Some yrs ago he suffered considerably from cancer. Died Sep 11, 1920 at Eng, George Richard, only s/o Edward Edwards Langford, of Colwood, Esq, and 1st white boy born on VI, this event taking place in 1851 at Gov Blanshard’s house in Victoria. He left VI with his father and other mem/o the family in 1861. Since then, he paid 1 visit to BC about 8 or 9 yrs ago. He always took a warm interest in BC and was indefatigable in helping Capt John T Walbran in obtaining information for his book on BC Coast names. Oct 15, 16, 1920 - Oct 15, 16, 1920 - Langford family history, by W G H Ellison, Port Renfrew... ‘The death of C Langford [in England] recalls to my mind the following incidents: He is said to be the 1st white child born on Vancouver Island, which may be questioned; but as such he is registered in HBC records. He was son of Colonel C Langford, after whom the Langford farm and plains, now the golf links of Victoria, were named. Colonel Langford was a pensioned officer of HM Service, who had seen service in the Crimea and India, in the early days of the last century. A more genial and courteous old gentleman it would be hard to find. Having lost two fortunes through an unsigned will in which he had been named for large sums, he sought a position with HBC. Friends procured him the place of manager of one of the HBC’s farms at Victoria, now known as Langford plains. As the Colonel had never done anything except handle his soldiers, he knew next to nothing about farming. Notwithstanding, I believe he managed to grow the 1st grain grown on the Island, in the locality where the golf links now are. An old weather-worn house, probably the oldest in the Island, stands on the plains. In Langford’s time, this was the great resort of the officers of the naval service at Esquimalt close by. Great yarns are still told of the open house and generous manner in which the old Colonel welcomed all comers, for his house was one of society’s vantage grounds. Langford had 4 beautiful daughters. One married a naval officer, who was killed in the China Wars, and his wife died later of cholera in India. It is this Lieut-Colonel, a doctor in the medical service who reports the news of the death of C Langford. He has been on foreign service for the last 30 years. Another daughter married the late Captain Lewis, who brought out the 1st steamer round the Horn, I think it was SS Beaver. Two other daughters are married in England. The only son, C Langford, the only one of the family born out here, was educated in England, but to my knowledge, he had a happy remembrance of his life in VI. He inherited all the courtesy of his old father, who lived to 90+, and was active to the last... He was the means of sending many emigrants to Canada and BC, and appeared to be well acquainted with conditions of life and requirements of those, who, by his advice, emigrated to the Colonies, now the Dominions.

V/In ever loving memory of my dear son, Pte Reggie Doman, KIA Sep 30, 1916. A loving son and devoted brother.

'This day brings back to memory

A dear one gone to rest

Somewhere afar in a soldier's grave

Lies my dear son, among the brave.

Gone is the face I loved so dear;

Silent is the voice I longed to hear;

gone far away from sight and speech,

But not too far for my thoughts to reach.

Sadly missed by his loving mother, Mrs G Lund. [1920]

RCNV/Oct 2, 1920, 7 - Funeral of late John Sixsmith, who died at Craigdarroch hosp Sep 30. Survived by wife, Adelaide M Sixsmith, Esquimalt, BC. Remains will be conveyed from BC Funeral chapel to Esquimalt Military hosp, whence the cortege will start. Deceased was mem/o United Service Lodge, of Esquimalt. Mason.

Only a day before his old ship, on which he spent 7 yrs, ended her naval career in RCN by leaving port in tow of American tugboats, John Sixsmith, Warrant Master-at-Arms, RCN, was laid to rest. He had given over 30 yrs of his life to RN and RCN. He served 22 yrs in RN. He came in cruiser Rainbow as master-at-arms when she was sent out from Eng 10 yrs ago, and he remained with this ship up to the 3rd yr of the war, when he was transferred to Niobe at Halifax. He became warrant master-at-arms in this ship, and served in her until 12 yrs ago, when he was stricken with paralysis.

He was transferred to Craigdarroch hosp here, and last week he died, aged 53. He leaves a widow at their Esquimalt home, and a step-son Percy Scoble, who w/others from Victoria, recently left to join cruiser Aurora which is the gift of Eng to Canada.

Sixsmith had a # of decorations, which included Egyptian Medal with Star, S African Medal, Long Service and Good Conduct Medal, Mons Medal, and 2 other medals obtained through his service in Great War. Pallbearers: J McIntosh, Charles Rowe, C R Hall, W Hindly, F Bendly, B Dallaway, B Day. Oct 7, 15 - an article by The Lounger: 'Last Mon I attended a funeral down at Esquimalt. An old veteran had died, and was to be laid to rest in the Naval Cemetery. The original idea was that the body should be drawn on a gun carriage hauled by bluejackets; the state of the road made this impossible, so the ordinary hearse was used. Now, I have been in Fra and Belg, and I know something about mud. I know what the Somme at the end of 1916 was like, and I sampled Passchendaele a yr later. I know mud from the word 'go.' I am not going to pretend that the mud on the road to the cemetery could be compared to the mud of the battlefields referred to, but I am quite prepared to swear that it made a very good third. Who is to blame? I cannot find out. I am told that this is partly Imperial Govt property and partly private property. But I always understood that when the Imperial Navy was withdrawn from Esquimalt the Cdn govt took it over. Let who will be to blame, the road is a positive disgrace, and a crying scandal to our naval stn on the Pacific. When the mourners have to proceed by devious byways through the fields, or hazard a perilous journey over 2 logs, in order to avoid knee-high mud, it is high time that some action was taken. And then, to cap all, there was no parson on the scene. If it had not been for the presence of the Masons, under whose auspices deceased was buried, there would have been no consummation of the funeral. Of course, everyone is now 'passing the buck.' I should just like to go on record as saying that for sheer callous indifference on the part of authority, as was witnessed at Monday's funeral, a man would have to travel far beyond the bounds of any civilization ever yet known to mankind. It makes me more determined than ever that the wheelbarrow to the wharf, thence by garbage scow to the Straits, will provide the fittest end for THE LOUNGER.' B-Row-12-P-0243 WmHx/Nov 2, 1920, 7 - Mrs Barker, now staying with son at Victoria, BC, tells of her 5 years' sojourn in Russia, from which she only succeeded in escaping in Jul 1919.

Mrs Barker was with her son in Russia when the war broke out. He returned to England to enlist with British army. She was left alone in a strange country. The recital of her experiences carried her listeners through some exciting incidents. She was in Moscow, for instance, during the Russian revolution, and fled with some of her newly-made friends to Kiev.

Eventually, after seeing her possessions scattered and lost, dressed as a Russian nurse, she escaped from Odessa before a Bolsheviki invasion on Imperata Nikolai, a Russian troopship. Borne out to sea on this vessel, they were transhipped to Princess Ina, a very small British ship, which was quite inadequate for the large # of refugees on the bigger boat. They were taken to Constantinople, where for the 1st time in many months they felt as if they were more or less in a free country again. Thence they went to Malta, and finally home to England. Her home is in Streatham, and as owing to the disorganization of the mails she had been unable to communicate for nearly 2 years with her relatives, she did not know whether they were living or dead. Mrs Barker came to Victoria last Jun to visit her son, and is living with him at Mount Edwards Apartments.

RNV/Died Nov 3, 1920 at Victoria, BC, Edgar Crow Baker, 75, 3rd s/o Edward William Whitley Baker, of Liscard Pk, Cheshire, Eng. N/o Lambeth, Surrey, Eng, springing from an old Eng family that traces its descent from 1310. Educated at Royal Hosp School, Greenwich, and in 1860 obtained nomination by competition into RN as Master's Asst (now styled navigating midshipman), having held the 1st place in the 1st class nautical for 15 mos previous to the exam and passed w/honors at the head of a class of 400 competitors, winning 1st prize in mathematics, navigation, nautical astronomy and Scripture history, and on passing at RN College, Portsmouth, was awarded the silver medal and 35 guineas in coin, also 15 guineas worth of nautical instruments and books. He was then appointed to HMS Victory, but was transferred to Rolla, a 10-gun, sailing brig, in which he continued until 1861, when he was appt'd to HMS Cygnets, on the N American and W Indian stns, and was present at the bombardment of the Haitian capital when HMS Bulldog was lost. He also landed w/Naval Brigade at Jamaica insurrection during the time of Gov Eyre. He went up the Mississippi Rv in HMS Cygnets to protect British interests, and was sent away as prize officer in 1863 in charge of ship Dalhousie, of Glasgow, salvaged by Cygnets in the Straits of Belle Isle, and navigated her to St John's, NF.

He was paid off from Cygnets at Halifax in Oct 1864, and joined HMS Duncan, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir James Hope, GCB, a 91-gun line-of-battleship there. During the Fenian scare he took troops to St Andrew, NB and landed for service w/Naval Brigade. He passed his examination, received 1st class certificates, and obtained his 1st commission as navigating Sub-Lt in Sep, 1865.

Returning to Eng in 1867, he obtained a 1st class certificate for navigating Lt at RN College, Portsmouth, and an extra certificate in his examination before the Elder Brethren of Trinity House as a Channel pilot for HM frigates of any size. Subsequently he served in HMS Fox in the transportation of boilers and machinery from the various dockyards in the UK for 3 yrs. Afterwards he served in HMS Cockatrice as naval Sub-Lt in charge up the Mediterranean and Danube Rv, enforcing the rules of the European Comm, and during this time made a survey of St George's Chann, Danube Rv and several places where grain vessels had been sunk.

He went home across the continent, and remained on ½ pay until Mar, 1872, when he was appointed to HMS Royal Alfred, as navigating Lt, then to HMS Sirius, in the W Indies, but he exchanged into HMS Niobe, and took that vessel from Bermuda to Halifax, and then to various ports in PEI, NF and Gulf of Saint Lawrence, protecting the fisheries. At his own request he again went on ½ pay until Sep 1872. He served for 6 mos on Board of Examiners of Masters & Mates, when he was superceded by a political nominee. He then accepted a position as accountant in the stores dept of the inter-Colonial RR, in which he continued until Mar, 1874, when he left w/family for BC. Since his arrival here E Crow Baker had been engaged in various business pursuits, having occupied the position of accountant at Victoria agency of Hastings Mill Co for 3 yrs; afterwards he was similarly employed for nrly 2 yrs in BC Treasury. Under the Dominion Act of 1873 he organized the pilotage system of BC. He also held position of secretary and V-P of BC Board of Trade, pres/o BC Rifle Assn, VP of Dominion Rifle Assn, grand secretary and grand master of Free & Accepted Masons, VOP BC Benevolent Assn, mem/o Council of Imperial Federation League in Canada, director of Royal Jubilee hosp... Managing owner of SS Alert, JP for BC, real estate and financial agent, hydrographic and marine surveyor, conveyancer and notary public. In Jan 1882 he was elected mem/o City Council from Yates st ward, and later returned as a Conservative to a seat in Cdn House of Commons, and in 1887 again elected as Sr MP for Victoria, but owing to his commercial pursuits demanding his undivided attention, he resigned his seat in Sep 1889. Personally he was one of the most genial of men, an English gentleman in the truest sense of the word, a man of rare qualifications, and extensive practical experience, a ready writer and he was highly esteemed by all classes of society.

He married in Mar 1, 1869, Francis Mary, eldest d/o Capt Richard Jones, Halifax, NS, secondly, in Jun 1896, he married Marion Henrietta, 3rd d/o late John Greaves Clapham, NP, of QC, who survives him.

In 1882 he organized the Victoria & Esquimalt Telephone Co, of which he was managing director and sec-treasurer until 1900, when the company merged into what is now BC Telephone Co. Also, in conjunction w/late Robert B McMicking, in 1886, he introduced electric light to Victoria, both for commercial and house purposes under the name of Victoria Electric Co, which operates it at the present time.

There is another phase of deceased's history which is not set down in any of the formal records of his life, he had a benevolent spirit, and in an unostentatious way contributed to most of the philanthropic demands of the community. For many yrs he took an active interest in the Protestant Orphans' Home, and his many kindly acts in this and numerous other connections will be long remembered by him either as co-worker or beneficiary.

Since his retirement from politics he had lived at Sissinghurst, Gorge Rd, where his death occurred. Family plot. Honorary pallbearers: His Honor Lt-Gov Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, H J Cambie, Col A W Jones. Acting pallbearers: J Hebden Gillespie, Marine/Died Feb 11, 1921 at Victoria, BC, George McKinley, a pioneer shipping man, and one of the most popular characters known to the seafaring community of the coast. In his time he was known to every man, woman and child in every port between Victoria and Pt Simpson, an acquaintance gained through many yrs' assn with the various settlements dotting the coastline, as purser of various vessels plying in the early days.

N/o ON, aged 50, came to BC in 1889, and for a # of yrs shared in the sealing trade that then flourished from this port. He shipped 1st in old Mary Ellen, under Capt W H Whitely, and later in other well-known vessels of the time.

Later he became purser of Barbara Boscowitz. It is related of deceased that his popularity was unbounded among small BC ports served by that vessel, and that he was kept busy constantly by the residents executing small commissions for them in Victoria on each trip S.

On 2 occasions while he was on Boscowitz, the vessel met with disaster amid the rocks of Inner Passage, sinking each time. 1st catastrophe occurred in 1897 at Ketkatla, off Skeena Rv, when the ship was commanded by Capt Steel, Boscowitz crashing on a reef when in the grip of a powerful tide rip, and sinking. She was purchased by a Victoria syndicate, headed by Capt George McGregor, who raised her and again put her into coastal service. McKinley was again on her as purser, serving on her until 1904, when she was wrecked a 2nd time w/Capt Warren in command, S of Alert Bay, with loss of several lives... 12 yrs ago he discovered he was a sufferer from diabetes, and decided to give up his marine calling. He took up ranching at Thetis Lk. He was brought into the city 3 days ago in a sinking condition. There are no relatives in the city, but a sister in Toronto. He was single. Died May 15, 1921 at Oak Bay, BC, William Fernie, pioneer prospector, miner and capitalist, aged 84, after a most interesting career of adventure and research. He had no relatives locally, but quite an extensive list of attached friends. He leaves 2 sisters in Eng, and nieces and nephews there too. A brother, Peter, vet/o Crimean War and Indian Mutiny, who accompanied William on many of his travels and adventures, died here several yrs ago.

William was of joint Eng/Sct ancestry, which possibly accounts for his adventurous traits. N/o Kimbolton, Huntingdonshire, Eng [1837], s/o Thomas Fernie, a medical practitioner, who attended Duke of Manchester of his time. Attaining yrs of manhood, he showed no inclination to settle down, but elected for a career of travel and excitement. He led an adventurous life in Aus, NZ, S and N America before definitely settling in BC and selecting this region to conduct prospecting for minerals. He arrived here in 1860, and after several yrs of mining was apptd gold commissioner for BC, which post he held 1873-82. In 1887 he located the immense coal deposits at Crow's Nest, and in company w/late Col Baker, was one of the promoters of BC Southern RR and Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co.

During his activities he became founder of town of Fernie.

He erected his residence at Oak Bay 20 yrs ago, and being largely retired from 'active service', devoted himself to a garden in which he succeeded with wonderful results. He always gave largely to charities, and was noted as a philanthropist. His express wish was to be cremated, and his ashes deposited in the plot where his brother Peter's remains lie. P 106 W U

V/Died suddenly Jul 5, 1921 at Clayoquot, BC, Frederick Gerald, s/o late John Evan Tibbs, of Oaklawn, Reigate, Eng, and nphw/o Mrs W O Cockett, Victoria. Buried at Tofino, Jul 7. RIP. Particulars of the death of Tibbs, lightkeeper for Dept of Marine at Clayoquot, where his dead body was found on the beach by Japanese fishermen on Tues, reached the city yesterday. Deceased, who was a returned soldier, led a solitary existence on an obscure part of the coast, and met a lonely death under distressing circumstances.

The report of the incident, as received at the local office of the Prov Police yesterday from the Cst at Clayoquot, stated that Tibbs was engaged on his duties in connection with the lights on Tues morning. When changing the lights on a buoy, his skiff broke away and floated off. Tibbs, undressing, plunged after it into the chilly waters, but becoming exhausted, turned instead towards the shore, which he managed to reach, apparently after only strenuous efforts, as he expired after hauling himself out of the water. The body was found by Japanese later in the morning, who worked over it for 2 hrs, artificial measures of respiration failing to reveal any signs of life. Dr Dixon, summoned meantime, arrived and pronounced life extinct, ascribing death to heart failure from over exertion and exposure.

Deceased was aged 30, and unmarried. He lived along on Tibbs I, off Tofino, the island being named after and owned by himself. There he had built himself a house, tilled the land and tended to his stock, making occasional visits to the main shore by launch. The attendance on the lights at Meares Spit and Stubbs Spit, Clayoquot Sound, necessitated a trip only once every 2 days, and was not his principal means of livelihood.

The body was removed to Tofino, interment taking place there Thurs. Tibbs was with a Forestry Bn overseas, serving 3 ½ yrs. The Great War Veterans' Assn handled all funeral arrangements. His father died at Reading, Eng on Jun 7. Husband of his aunt, Mr W O Cockett, leaves for Tofino to adjust the affairs of deceased.

Jul 24, 1921, 25 - photo William Towner, pioneer... Saanich has a hx all its own, but a hx which is little known...In N Saanich today is to be found one of the 1st settlers, William (Bill) Towner, of the 'Hope Farm', Deep Bay, who is probably the oldest of the local old timers. Res/o Saanich for 57 yrs, he has become a landmark in these parts... He takes one back to the early yrs of trails and narrow rds winding in and out of the timber, and the settlers' homes here and there in the clearings. He tells of the days when the Indian dressed in cedar bark and buckskin, hunted and roamed where he pleased, and at night sat by his campfire to smoke away the long winter evenings.

Aged 81 [Jul 18 birthday] he does not show his age... he still manages and directs all the work on the farm. He received his friends, aided by his niece, Miss Rose Bartholomew, who has lived at the Hop Farm for 15 yrs, at his birthday celebrations...

The 'Hop Farm' comprises 350 acres on W Saanich rd, just above the Indian reserve. From 1864 until a few yrs ago, the land was given over to the raising of hops, and from here he shipped his product, the 'Sweetest-Bitter,' to all the large cities of the continent. He was, in fact, the 1st man to n the SW the property skirts along Patricia Bay and Towner's Cv, narrowing at length into Towner's Pnt...

Came of UEL stock, grandfather Thomas came from Sct to US, taking up land on W branch of Delaware Rv in NY, fought for the British during Revolutionary war and came to Canada in 1781. Given Crown land in Queenston. On this journey he and the rest of the family were taken prisoners by the Indians. Some of the other prisoners killed some of the guards and escaped. The chief of the tribe demanded a life for a life, and each one had to run a gauntlet for his life, chased by an Indian warrior, armed with a tomahawk and scalping knife; the distance was ½ mile. A younger Indian took up the chase, but Thomas outfooted him. At the rise of a hill the Indian was near enough to inflict a serious scalp wound on the back of his head. May 28, 1922, 4 - letter to editor. Sir - I noticed in a descriptive article on the splendors of Sooke in your issue of 7th, a reference to the 'golden broom...' stating that this plant was veritably brought there by the 1st British settlers. In this the writer is in error, as the 1st broom seed sown in BC was sown on Beacon Hill in early 1853 by my father, the late Thomas Flewin, and was brought by him on Norman Morison, which carried the 1st married couples to VI for HBC, leaving Gravesend in Aug, 1852. The seed was gathered in my father's native county of Kent.

I well remember the difficulty experienced in getting it to start, as it was constantly eaten down by numerous bands of cattle then roaming at large nr Victoria. It made no considerable headway until well along in the 1860s, and the seed was taken from there to all the surrounding country and also to the Fraser Rv section.

I was very familiar with all the country between Victoria and Sooke in the 1870s, and there was then only an occasional broom to be seen nr the homes of the pioneer farmers in the section. I hunted a good deal in those yrs from Metchosin to Sooke with the late Dr Jackson and others. John Flewin, Pt Simpson, BC. Jun 14, 9 - Sooke broom - ...while the broom may have been planted by more than one of the early pioneers, there is no doubt that the 1st plants to bloom were from this seed, which came by way of the Fijian Islands...

Jul 22, 1922, 26 - R J Burde, MPP, received advices that a special $10,000 grant for construction work on Ucluelet to Tofino rd is available. Work will be pushed forward, taking advantage of the fine weather, in an effort to have the road completed from the hd of Ucluelet Arm to Long Beach this season. Two small gangs of men, under James Fraser, of Ucluelet, and J P Cooper, of Long Beach, are now at work clearing and grubbing that part of the road which has already been logged. Following the completion of this, a motor truck and tractor will be put on the job and additional men will be hired. Coming out of the beach N of Sand Hill Ck, the road will be along the beach for 6 miles to Paul's Landing, whence the survey takes it through the bush again to Tofino, 9 miles further. The latter section has been built 2 miles out from Tofino, and it is expected that next year Tofino will also be connected with the beach, making a good automobile road all the way. Jul 18, 1922, 1; 3 - John Keeler Lindsay, 76, burned to death in Yale rooming house fire, 749 Pandora, Victoria. A familiar figure around Victoria, he could be seen daily carrying a sandwich board advertising restaurants and other businesses. He came of a good family in Eng, whom he left 30+ yrs ago, and for yrs travelled the world. It is stated he was trained for the teaching profession and for some yrs taught in a private school in Eng. He had no occasion to follow his humble occupation as he could have received financial aid from his English relatives. But he had succeeded in his calling a substantial sum, which he had on deposit in 2 or 3 banks here. He was eccentric in many ways, and preferred to live alone. Marine/Aug 6, 1922, 21 - Metchosin history... it was the cranberry trade that directed the pioneer settler to Metchosin. Captain James Cooper, the 1st defector from HBC ranks was master of the company's bark Columbia, and in 1851 he brought a small iron vessel, built in sections in England to Victoria in that vessel. This craft was put together at Victoria, being the 1st to be launched from a local slip, and in 1852 Captain Cooper entered into partnership with Thomas Blenkhorn and they took up 300 acres at 1 pound per acre at Metchosin, where 10 acres were cultivated. They found, however, that more money could be made by buying cranberries, also potatoes, from the Indians of the lower Fraser delta. The cranberries were bought in 1852 at 75c/barrel from the Indians and sold on arrival at San Francisco for $1/gallon. Cooper continued work as an agriculturist at Metchosin until 1857. His partner shipped lumber, props and piles from Metchosin to San Francisco - previously some shipments were made from Sooke, where Captain Grant had installed the Island's 1st sawmill. When Governor Blanshard resigned in 1851, Captain Cooper was appointed with James Douglas, whom it was generally understood then was to succeed as Governor, and John Todd, as provisional governing council. He was replaced in 1854 by James Wark. Douglas had been made Governor in 1851. In 1857 Cooper returned to England and there testified before the British Parliament in an inquiry concerning HBC.

HBC factors were early resident of Metchosin, and much of the country was originally in their hands - Bilston, whose name is preserved in christening the largest of the streams, Fraser, Dallas and others. These old estates were divided and sold in early days. Thomas Blenkhorn bought part of the Bilston's estate. Glengarry Farm, owned by Fraser, was divided into several holdings, one held for many years by late Dr John A Duncan, drowned in wreck of SS Islander. The Dallas estate was also early subdivided, and many new owners have since farmed it. Robert Weir came from England with his family in 1853 in HBC service and bought a large tract, since divided into many farms, some of which his descendants farm today - his surviving son, John, daughter, Mrs Swaneck, and d-i-l, Mrs Adam Weir. The Weir house is probably one of the oldest in the whole countryside. Crosby Farm, of the Weirs, like Glengarry Farm of Mrs Swaneck, are on Parry Bay, a wide bight between Albert and William Heads, named after Admiral Parry, RN.

Hans Helgesen is another pioneer resident. He came in 1858 and was one of the stamperders to the Cariboo. On his return in 1863 he bought a large tract from Mr McGregor and settled there. Another old time farm is that of Edward Vise [Vine], who came to BC in 1851, and bought his land from the government of the Crown Colony in 1858. He was a sailor, and was the 1st pilot to engage in local waters. In 1854 he took the brig Cyrus, coal laden, from Nanaimo harbour, this being the 1st craft to load coal for export. The Vine Farm was later sold to Thomas Reid and has since been owned by his son, John D. It is known as Glenrosa, fronting on Pedder Bay.

V/Aug 18, 1922, 8 - married Aug 16 at V, Jean Crawford Kemp, of Pt Glasgow, Sct, to George Baird, of the local postal staff. An element of romance that dates back to war days gives this marriage a touch of the unusual, and carries out the old saying 'Journeys end in lovers meeting.' George, a letter carrier when the Great War began left for overseas with one of Canada's 1st contingents, and after 2 yrs' of active service was sent to Eng for a rest. While there he visited Sct and met Miss Kemp who was at that time engaged in Red Cross relief work. At the end of his leave he returned to the trenches and remained there until war's end, after which he came back to Victoria, without visiting Sct. In the course of events her family moved to Canada, and as they had relatives living here they decided to make Victoria their home.

George was reinstated at the local PO, and one day when put on relief work he took a new route; among the letters to be delivered was one from Sct addressed to Miss Jean Kemp, and thus it was that the romantic accidental happenings resulted in the ceremony celebrated.

Marine/Died Aug 21, 1922 at V, Capt William Henry Whiteley, 60, than whom no truer gentleman of the sea ever paced the bridge of a ship in BC waters. Pilot at this port for 12+ yrs, and prior to that time associated with sealing and steamboating activities, he was one of the best known mariners, with friends in every port from AK south.

Born at Bonne Esperance, Labrador, in 1862, he grew up in a seafaring neighborhood and followed the sea from boyhood. Aged 25 he came to the Pacific, and joined the flourishing sealing fleet with the old schr Labrador. Later he returned to NS and brought out Mermaid, a vessel famous in these waters. On that passage he covered the distance from coast to coast, via Straits of Magellan, in 119 days, establishing a fine record as a navigator.

Subsequently he was with the sealers for many yrs, and with the decline of that industry passed to steamships, serving for a long period with the Cdn Pacific in the early days of the BC Coast Service. He was master at various times of many of the ships that are still in that fleet. Eventually though he was appointed an official pilot to the Port of Victoria, now w/BC Pilotage Assn. Nov 1, 1922, 3 - One of the 1st appeals received by the newly-formed Historical Society of BC, is for the marking of 2 venerable trees standing just inside the drydock gates at Esquimalt. These trees were planted on the day that BC entered the Federation, and from small maple saplings 15" in height they have grown to something like 60' with boles more than 1' in thickness.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Society through a letter from William Wilby, who recalled that his father, the late Henry E had planted these trees 'on 1st Dominion Day.' They stand just inside the fence which encloses the Admiralty property and about 50 yards from the tramway terminus. Nov 2, 9 - Historical society committee formed... *

"our people did not come from Sevenoaks, Eng, but from Nottingham, leaving there in 1859, and emigrating to Aus. Not finding conditions favorable, they decided to try the Sandwich Islands, locating there for a short time before finally deciding to come to BC, landing here in Aug, 1859. After a short time, my grandfather took up 500 acres at Colwood. Another mistake was regarding the store. The 1st was operated by James Haslam, in a portion of the Travelers' Exchange. It was not until later yrs that Mr Goodall opened a store on the former site of the old hotel, also known as the Travelers' Exchange. In fact, Goodall did not come to Colwood until James Dunsmuir commenced bldg, and at that time Colwood was quite a village."

Nov 15, 1922, 8 - William and Mary Ann Richardson celebrate 50th anniversary. She - d/o Mr/Mrs William Raby, n/o Victoria, aged 66. They have raised a family of 14 children. Her parents came to Victoria from Cambridge, Eng, her father coming to Canada under contract with HBC. He is aged 76, left Eng on Aug 12, 1862, sailing from Liverpool on Helvetia, and on Jan 12, 1863, he, who served before the mast, left the ship and located on VI. When he landed at Victoria the settlement consisted of little more than the HBC post, some sawmills, and a few streets of frame shacks and tents. Where the PO is now located was a lumber yard, and where Government & Douglas sts exist was mostly forest. The principal industries were lumbering and marine transportation. Four ships of HBC, Beaver, Otter, Labouchere and Enterprise made Victoria regular port of call... Following his landing Richardson hired out as a farm hand to William Thompson, at Mount Newton. He worked 11 yrs on the Thompson farm, and it was while he was employed there that he met and married Miss Raby, at that time a servant of Rev Edward Cridge. V/Nov 24, 1922, 16 - Armistice Day was very fittingly observed at Tofino, under the auspices of the local branch of the GWVA. All gathered at the memorial Hall on the 11th, and the proceedings were started by Comrade Murdo McLeod, president of GWVA, who explained the object of the commemoration, what Armistice Day stood for, and its patriotic significance. The Roll of Honor contained 37 names was then read by Comrade B Duchatalet, secretary of the Tofino branch, GWVA, and was followed by an appropriate prayer by Comrade F C Garrard. The school children then gave a very fine rendering of 'O Canada,' being led by their teacher, Miss Moses. J W Thompson recited a poem composed for the occasion by himself.

At 11am the 2 minutes' silence was duly observed by the entire gathering, after which Mr Duchatalet gave an effective address. This was followed by James Sloman, an ex-Imperial army soldier, who, in the course of his remarks, made a touching reference to the boys who would not answer another earthly roll call, and pleaded the patriotic necessity of keeping their memories forever green.

The meeting closed with the singing of the national Anthem. Members of GWVA and others then proceeded to the cemetery and placed wreaths on the graves of comrades who had died since their return from overseas.

Nov 26, 1922, 24 - Beacon Hill Park, by Walter W Baer... with photos...; Dec 7, 15 - J R Anderson writes... 'whilst no objection can be taken to any correspondent indulging in the higher flights of fancy, it is regretted that more accuracy should not be observed... that the Royal Engineers established a beacon on the summit of the hill for triangulation purposes in 1843, in order to definitely ascertain the location of Brotchie Ledge... no Royal Engineers having come here until 1858. The fact is, a pole surmounted by an empty barrel was placed on Beacon Hill after the erection of Fort Victoria by the officers of HBC, and this served as a landmark for the time being. The statement that the park was covered by a dense mass of tangled underbrush is devoid of accuracy. Except the wooded parts now occupied by park and municipal nursery, the park was never wooded by other than stately old oaks.

Cricket matches, rounders and horseracing were indulged in as far back as 1850; notably a cricket match by officers of HMS Thetis, in which the late Admiral Moresby, the younger (then a Lt) participated.

Also a picnic given by Mr/Mrs Douglas under the oaks in honor of Admiral Moresby (the elder) and officers of HMS Portland. At that time there was no broom on Beacon Hill, and for yrs after only small patches appeared, it having been introduced by the late Robert Muir, of Sooke, c 1850. Beacon Hill at that time was covered with our beautiful natural flowers....

Gold/Died Nov 28, 1922 at Vancouver, BC, Robert Stevenson, 84, born Jul 28,

1838 at Glengarry Co, ON, he came to BC in 1859. He engaged in mining at Rock Ck in 1860, and 2 yrs later went into the Cariboo dist, where he was connected with many of the earlier ventures in that part of BC. Later, he turned his attention to mining in the Similkameen dist, making his hdqts at Princeton. Leaves 2 sons, and a daughter in Victoria [Mrs J L Watson]. Dec 3, 17 - stirring career - in spite of his age he could recall events which took place in BC as early as 1859, and he maintained an iron constitution up to a few wks ago. Perhaps the most widely-known story of the adventures of Col Stevenson was the journey from Cariboo to Victoria with the body of the wife of 'Cariboo' Cameron... Through the fear of contracting smallpox, all men refused except Stevenson and the 2 men made the terrible journey to the Coast, suffering untold hardships though lack of food and matches... He was one of the 1st party of white men to pass from salt water to the interior of BC and he was the only living man who was present at the abandonment of Ft Okanagan in Jun, 1860, when the little party of white men were besieged by Indians. Long before BC was a province and when there were less than 180 residents in Seattle, WA, Col Stevenson was the 1st Cdn customs officer on the US boundary, but in 1861, when gold was discovered in large quantities he resigned his post to follow the trail into the interior, where he staked many rich claims. One of the favorite stories of the Col was of the great strike of 'Cariboo' Cameron on Dec 2, 1862, when the Col washed out $155 in gold from 25 gals of gravel. Up to his last days, the old pioneer maintained that he had discovered a claim 160 miles from Barkerville where the nuggets were almost as numerous as pebbles in the sand of a riverbed.

A fight was supposed to have taken place between 2 mem/o the expedition and the whole party withdrew without taking out any gold. Every mem/o that famous expedition is now dead and Col Stevenson had staunchly refused to disclose the whereabouts of the spot up to his last days.

He married in Chilliwack in 1877 and had 4 children, 3 now living... Perhaps the greatest tribute to the hardiness of the famous old Col was the attribute of the Indians, who called him 'Man Afraid of Nothing.' Chilliwack burial.

On a small bay, just above Channel I, is the herring packing plant which salts some hundreds of tons of herring for bait for the halibut fisheries and shipment to Japan. Opposite on the E side is a sawmill, not now operated, erected by W J Sutton, who had considerable interests in this dist. There is also a small machine shop.

From Mr Lee's store, on the E side, a road runs up the peninsula to Stapleby PO, which settlement has its own school, this rd connecting with the trail leading to Wreck Bay and Long Beach, on which energetic settlers are now endeavoring to interest capital to erect a summer hotel.

The lifesaving stn is located close to the mouth of the Arm on a grassy slope nr the site of the early day trading posts. Here in the early 1860s, before other white settlers than the lone trader came to the Arm, there were trading posts which dealt with the Indians, who then took sea otter and sealskins. Here the trading post of Capt Charles E Stuart was located before 1860. Some say it was an outpost of HBC, others that it was a private venture of the trader. In the early days he earned some notoriety owing to a salvage deal he tried to put through. A Peruvian brigantine had gone ashore on an island in Wreck Bay and the survivors made their way to his trading post. He induced the mate - the Capt drowned - to offer the wreck and her lumber cargo at auction, which he did, and Capt Stuart, the only bidder, bought both for $100. When the shipwrecked mariners were brought to Victoria by the gunboat Forward, commanded by Lt-Comm Lascelles, the sale was repudiated, and Capt King was sent on Saucy Lass to take over the wreck. Capt Stuart did a good trade at Ucluelet. He was succeeded there by Capt William Spring... [full page mentions George Fraser, M A Lyche, J H Kvarno, Ucluelet Indians]...

Dec 12, 1922, 1; 4 - photo, late Lady Crease, 96...; died Dec 10 at V, widow of Sir Henry P P Crease, who died Feb 27, 1905. She was the subject of 5 successive British crowned heads. Daughter of Dr John Lindley, FRS, a well known professor of botany in his day, she was born Nov 30, 1826 at Acton Green, England. Her father numbered many scientists and other celebrities of his time among his friends, and in her young days she met at Dr Lindley's table Charles Dickens, William Makepeace Thackeray... She was present at the coronation of Queen Victoria in Westminster Abbey... She had all the accomplishments of the ladies of her time... some of her sketches were shown in the London Exhibition of 1862.

She married Henry Pering Pellew Crease on Apr 27, 1853 at Acton. He being the eldest son of Captain Henry Crease, RN, of Ince Castle, Cornwall...

In 1858 Mr Crease, who did not receive his knighthood until years later, set out for the far off colony of BC. He was followed in Aug, 1859 by Mrs Crease, who set sail in Athelstan, in charge of Captain Bracey. The journey took 6 months to make the trip round the Horn, arriving in Feb, 1860, accompanied by her 3 eldest children. The family moved to New Westminster, making their home at Ince Cottage, on the Sapperton rd, for 6 yrs. Even the little voyage from Victoria to the mainland was quite an event, taking 3 days. Stmr Caledonia encountered a storm during the crossing, and lost a paddle-wheel and her rudder before port was made. In 1866 the family returned to Victoria, and from that time down to present Lady Crease continued to make this her home. Pentrelew is one of Victoria's beautiful old landmarks... Of the 7 children born, only 4 survive, Misses Susan and Josephine and 2 sons, Lindley and Arthur. Her only brother, Nathaniel, Lord Lindley, died Dec 10, 1921. She leaves a sister, Mrs Thompson, of Leamington, Eng. Pallbearers: B H T Drake, F E Pemberton, F J O'Reilly, H J S Muskett, H B Beaven, A D Muskett. B 089 W 32

V/Dec 17, 1922, 5 - through the loyalty of comrades who shared many mos in hospital with him, Arthur Calvin Ellis, vet/o Great War, is to be given a military funeral. N/o Halifax, NS, res/here 20 yrs ago. When war broke out he joined up, and went overseas w/27th Bn in 1915. He served 3 yrs in Fra, part of the time in Currie's Guard, part in Machine Gun Bn. He was WIA and gassed, and spent some time in hospitals in Eng and Fra. In 1919 he came back to Victoria and was discharged at that time. In his haste to quit the army refused the usual invitation to undergo medical examination, and took his discharge papers as an A1 man.

Fifteen mos after that he reported to SCR, suffering from the illness which terminated a few days ago in his death. SCR has a strict ruling that returned men cannot receive assistance or treatment from the Government unless they report their case within 1 yr from the time of discharge. He died of TB, penniless, without pay, allowance, or pension. He had no claim on SCR, and when appealed to by TB Vets' Assn they said they had no authority to undertake arrangements for a funeral. Ultimately, however, loyal comrades succeeded in finding the funds, while by dint of still further efforts these returned men succeeded in perfecting arrangements to give military honors to the dead man.

Col Ross has given permission for a gun carriage to be sent to convey the remains to the cemetery, and a firing party will also be supplied. Messrs Cracknell and Waterson, 2 of the TB vets who have been undergoing treatment at the Jubilee hospital while Ellis was there, have been largely responsible for securing , and it is hoped that the public will follow their splendid example by paying the dead veteran fitting tribute. Funeral attendees include Dept of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. Draped with Union Jack, the casket was carried to the cemetery on a gun carriage in charge of Sgt-Maj Price. A firing party, under Sgt Redgrave, fired 3 volleys over the open grave, after which Bugler Hall sounded Last Post. Pallbearers: E Kean and E M Coles, from TB Vets' Assn; W Swan and E P Craft, from Jubilee hospital, and W F Rankin and G H Palton. TB Vets' Assn wishes to thank the many people who did final honor to the departed veteran. Q 003 W W

Feb 15, 1923, 6 - I wonder if there are any Victorians of 1862 left who remember the arrival of Tynemouth... Some wks before the arrival of that interesting vessel, she was traced up the Coast and used as an advertising medium by a well-known business man. He knew of the number of young men who were said to be looking for sweethearts and wives, and it was well known that Tynemouth had 60+ women, young and middle-aged, on board. Well, the well known business man, in the meantime, had stated 'the vessel had left San Francisco, and it would be here in a few days, and it was important that the young men of Victoria should appear in new suits of clothes to meet them.' So he announced in the morning paper that:

'Rich and rare are the suits they wear, who buy of David Green;

Within his shop a splendid stock is always to be seen.'

Another advertisement was something like this: 'The Wharf St Dude called on the seeress yesterday, and asked her where he could get the best clothes. Immediately the room became darkened, and in letters of fire appeared the words, 'Go to the IXL Store'.'

The 'Wharf St dude' was a well-known young man of Victoria in the days of 1860, and I have wondered several times, when recalling the past, what has become of him? If he were in the land of the living, he would surely have written to an old friend. Maybe he did after all these yrs. But out of sight, out of mind. Edgar Fawcett

Marine/Died Mar 7, 1923 at V, Capt Charles Herbert Francis Blake, 91, pioneer of Victoria, and a notable figure in BC seafaring circles. A descendant on his mother's side of Robert Bruce of Sct, he was related also to late Hon Edward Blake. N/o Eng, but came here in 1850, and spent the remainder of his life on this Coast. In the early days he was a sea Capt, and was skipper of several schrs engaged in trading with the Indians. While following that line he was frequently in peril, and the story of his activities up and down the coast is packed with romance and adventure.

He was once made captive, together with 7 others, by the hostile Haida Indians, and was held a prisoner on Qn Charlotte I for 18 mos as their hostage, until Mr Pottinger, connected with HBC, managed to rescue them by buying their liberty with blankets and trinkets. For some time after that he was keeper of the lighthouse at Dungeness and at Pt Townsend, WA, he served as customs officer.

For 28 yrs Capt Blake was employed as turnkey at the Victoria jail, 1st at Bastion Sq and then at Topaz Ave.

His memory retained a wealth of interesting anecdotes of the old days in BC, and during the period when Hon Amor de Cosmos was editor of The Colonist he was a frequent contributor to the columns of that newspaper. He served in the famous old volunteer fire brigade here.

Capt Blake married 3 times. Survived by his widow, Margaret Ellen, 3 sons, 4 daughters. Pallbearers: W Dalton, W Elves, R White, W Reid, H Cropps, W Tolmie. G 037b038 E 08
